PRESIDENT ASKS 4-POINT FARM PLAN

Aid Fund Cut Draws Criticism

Sen. Vandenberg Leading Battle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) took personal command Saturday of the fight to boost foreign aid funds. Indications were that the Senate may restore slashes voted by the House.

Vandenberg, who piloted the European recovery program through the Senate, told reporters he is asking for "the earliest possible opportunity" to appear personally before the Senate appropriations committee.

That group now has before it a wrap-up foreign aid bill carrying $5,980,000,000 for American assistance to non-communist nations abroad.

The House made that amount available for a 15-month period instead of the $6,533,000,000 asked by the administration as a minimum outlay for 12 months.

Although it may be several days before the Senate committee gets down to item-by-item work on the bill, there were clear indications that several Republicans are likely to join an almost solid front of Democrats to restore the chopped off funds.

Senator Gurney (R-SD), a committee member, told a reporter the chances are "100 to 1" the Senate will restore some of the funds.

Friends said that Senator Ball (R-Minn), another committee member who has been highly critical of the administration's foreign aid program, is inclined to support an increase. His view, associates said, is that Congress made a commitment last month in approving authorization legislation for the recovery program.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) sounded the sentiments of most of the Democratic members of the committee when he called the House ax-wielding "a disastrous thing."

"The record before the country is perfectly clear," the Wyoming senator declared. "Passage of the foreign aid authorization was one of the most vital things in the defeat of the communists in the Italian election.

"If Congress goes back on European recovery, as the House action does, it will be used by the communists as proving their original charge that we never meant it anyway."

Wilson Meat Strike Ends

CHICAGO — (AP) — The CIO United Packinghouse Workers' union announced Saturday it has ended its strike against Wilson and company.

The union statement said the Wilson workers will return to work "under the terms of the contract in effect between the company and the union." It did not elaborate.

Wilson was one of the four major packers struck by the union on March 16. The union ended its strike against Swift, Armour and Cudahy—the other three top packers—on May 21.

Wilson employs about 8,000 workers in Chicago and other cities.

Transit Tieup Deadline Set

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Negotiators went into a last-minute conferences this week-end seeking to avert a citywide transit strike set for 12:01 a. m. (PDT) Monday.

But leaders of the AFL transportation workers union held little hope that action could be taken to countermand the 2-1 strike vote of nearly 4,000 transit workers.

Flying Wing Bomber Crash Carries Crew of 5 to Death

Eight-Jet Plane Burns On Field

Cause of Tragedy Remains Mystery

MUROC AIR BASE, Calif.—(AP)—A great Northrop flying wing bomber crashed and burned near this testing field Saturday, killing its five-man air force crew.

The giant eight-jet YB-49, which Northrop had called the most powerful plane yet announced, met disaster only a few minutes after it had taken off from this field on a routine checking flight, air force spokesmen announced.

It crashed near a highway, and an eyewitness, Motorist Dale C. Wilson, of Alton, Ill., told the Kern county sheriff's office that it seemed to explode at several hundred feet altitude, then plunged earthward, cutting a wide swath through the sagebrush and greasewood which thickly stud this desolate desert region.

ENGULFED IN FLAMES

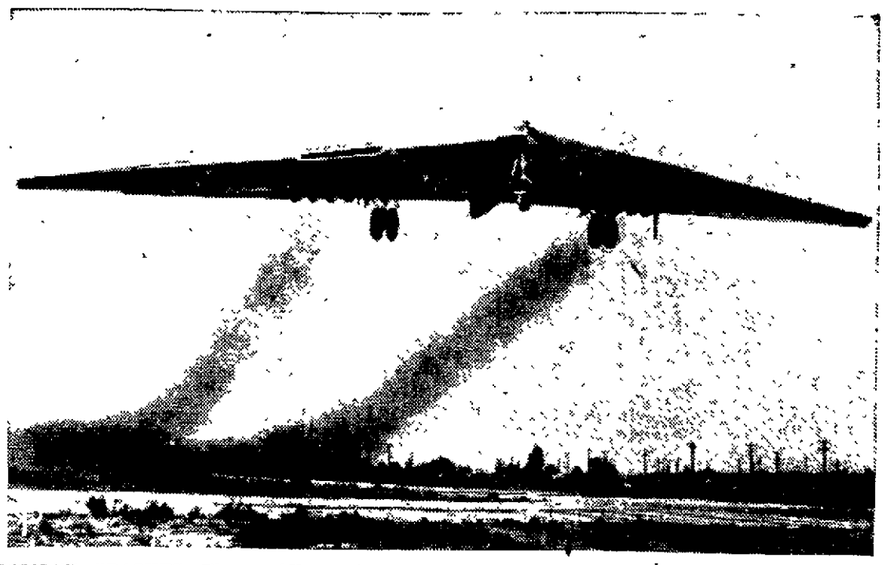
Flames almost completely destroyed it, and it was hours before military authorities could get close enough to the great hulk even for a preliminary investigation.

In a terse statement, Claude N. Monson, Northrop general manager, said in Los Angeles:

"This plane is one of 15 being built by Northrop for the air force. It had already completed many hours of rigorous test flights by Northrop pilots and was being flown on a recheck flight. There is no reliable information as to the cause of the accident."

The giant bomber, bat-like in shape, weighed 44 tons empty and more than 100 tons fully loaded. Its eight jet engines developed a thrust equivalent to 32,000 horsepower, and the span of its chevron-shaped wings was 172 feet. It was designed to operate at altitudes of more than 30,000 feet and to carry a crew of 13.

The flying wings, jointly financed by government and Northrop, are designed for top speeds "in the 500-mile an hour class," and Northrop claims it can range several hundred miles farther than any other jet craft.



BOMBER CRASHES—The world's most powerful bomber, shown here winging skyward, crashed Saturday in California, killing five crew members. The 44-ton bat-shaped craft, called the Flying Wing, was powered by eight jet engines developing 32,000 horsepower.

Thief 'Cleans Out' Man In Shower Bath

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Anthony Perera's shower bath cost him $540 Saturday. He also decided firmly that the next time he leaves money around the apartment he'll keep his clothes on.

While splashing about, Perera heard a noise. Looking out he saw a man calmly collecting the money.

With a shout Perera started after the thief, stopping only long enough to pick up a gun.

He reached the door—and there had to stop. He fired two shots but the thief was gone down an alley.

Shoppers Told 'Take Notice'

A "take notice" reminder to Mansfield shoppers was issued yesterday by V. H. Lodde, secretary-manager of the Retail Merchants association.

A lot of folks, he said, hadn't noticed that 98 per cent of Mansfield stores had adopted uniform hours of 9:30 to 5.30 p. m daily and abandoned their former practice of staying open on Monday nights.

Tomorrow will be the second Monday that stores will not be open. The "Monday closing" agreement became effective in mid-May but, because of Memorial Day, stores have had only one full week of the six days of uniform hours.

Labor Day Parade Set

50 Union Locals Will Participate

Plans for a mammoth Labor day parade of all Richland county AFL and CIO locals tentatively were drawn at a dinner last night marking the sixth anniversary of the establishment of the Richland County Federation of Labor.

Floyd Myers, president of the organization, said that more than 50 locals were expected to participate in the parade, which would feature floats prepared by the union members.

AFL, CIO and International Association of Machinists leaders will meet Friday to draw up definite plans for the first Labor day parade to be held in Mansfield for several years.

At the anniversary dinner at the Sky club, the assemblage of 125 unionists heard Phillip Hannah, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Federation of Labor, denounce the Taft-Hartley law. He charged that the clause prohibiting political activities was "unconstitutional" and the 80-day "cooling off" period amounted to "involuntary servitude."

He urged all union members to vote in the November election, pointing out that only 30 per cent of the membership was registered. He said the unions could not expect to have Congress enact favorable legislation unless the unions helped elect the right men to office.

Taft Makes Rapid Tour

LENOIR, N. C.—(AP)— Senator Robert A. Taft relaxed today after his whirlwind week-end trip in quest of North Carolina's 26 Republican convention delegates

The Ohio GOP presidential hopeful made six addresses in the western part of the state after arriving at Salisbury Friday.

Taft finished his bid for the state's unpledged convention vote with an address at the Caldwell county courthouse Saturday. He told his listeners that the Taft-Hartley act "has restored justice to the individual worker and to the employer."

The Republican Senate leader saw "less threat of communism in this country today than a year ago." He attributed this to the reaction of the nation's people who he said have "become aroused over communism."

He attacked the Truman administration on several counts Referring to a Truman request for authority to draft labor in essential industries, the Ohioan said the measure would have resulted in "slave labor"

Red Cross Survey Reveals Tragedy

52 Listed Missing In Vanport Disaster

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—The Red Cross last night listed 52 persons—45 of them children—missing from the Vanport disaster area of the flood-stricken Columbia river valley.

The new total is the largest announced since the Columbia's backwaters burst a dike and shattered the war-built city of 18,700 last Sunday afternoon.

The swollen river still is pounding lower valley dikes near the sea and a new crest is sweeping toward this metropolitan sector again from the upper valley.

Lists of Vanport missing have been revised almost hourly in the past two days and the Red Cross explained many of the 52 still unaccounted for may yet be located.

The bodies of two children were the first recovered from the Vanport area. Their deaths boosted the known toll in two weeks of Columbia valley flood to 26 persons in all areas.

The latest report on the missing bears out the claims of survivors of the Vanport disaster that many of the victims would likely be children. Parents told of youngsters swept from their grasp or knocked from their feet by the rapidly rising waters that spread over playgrounds and yards of the city.

Flood waters have already inflicted damage in multimillions of dollars of the Pacific Northwest states, and high water will remain for weeks in the devastated valley of the great Pacific coast river basin.

The New Columbia flood will hit its crest here today—five days behind the highest stage of the flood now spilling toward the Pacific.

The second crest yesterday was in the Columbia river gorge 100 miles east of the Metropolitan Portland area. At the Columbia headwaters, in the Canadian and U S Rockies, the rivers and streams are reported falling gradually.

300 Attend 4-H Session

Approximately 300 representatives of 57 4-H clubs in Richland county attended the annual conference and picnic for officers and advisors at the Central Methodist church.

George B. Ganyard, county agricultural agent reported that there are approximately 750 active members of the record number of 57 4-H clubs in the county. He said that there was an increase of about 10 percent in membership as compared with last year.

In thhe morning the conferees held group discussions at which time problems related to their specific fields were discussed. Presidents and vice-presidents met with D. D. Rummell, principal of Bellville schools; secretaries and treasurers met with Mrs. V. G. Dudley of Mifflin township; News reporters with Ralph Disler, promotion manager of The News-Journal and recreation leaders with Miss Betty Brooks, assistant state 4-H leader.

The meeting got off to a harmonious start as the 300 delegates joined in community singing. They viewed motion pictures on 4-H club work, and put on sociodramas based on club programs.

$25,000 Program Planned

Pennsy Promises Action

The Pennsylvania Railroad has promised to do something about its grade crossings in Mansfield.

J. D. Fuchs, superintendent of the Eastern Division, told the News-Journal from Pittsburgh yesterday that the company plans to spend $25,000 installing new treated-timber crossings on its lines at North Main, Orange, Fourth, Fifth and Bowman streets.

The crossing at Surrey road will also be resurfaced, Fuchs said

"The materials have been ordered and we hope to complete the job this summer," Fuchs added.

The announcement follows a protracted campaign by The News-Journal to get action on the rutted, decrepit grade crossings of the Pennsylvania, Erie and B and O which have jeopardized city traffic for years. Pictures, news stories and editorials have repeatedly called attention to the bad crossings.

Several months ago the matter was taken up directly with M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania, who advised The News-Journal that action would be taken.

Last Round In Fast Time Fight Looms

Ordinance's Third Reading Coming Up

Last round of the 1948 version of the "fast time" battle may be fought some time this week.

Council has heard two readings of the re-introduced daylight saving time bill and at the next meeting, a final vote on the controversial measure will be taken.

Whether council will meet this week, is not definitely known at this time. The last meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the finance committee headed by Charles N. Shultz who said he did not plan to call a special meeting inasmuch as the budget could be passed at the regular July meeting

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said he did not think he would call a meeting this week. Harry Hollingsworth, sponsor of the "fast time" bill, reported yesterday, that if the finance committee did not call a meeting, he planned to poll the members of his "fast time" committee concerning the question of calling a special meeting to vote on the bill and settle the matter once and for all.

Just how council will vote is also problematical. The body defeated the measure on March 22 by a vote of 6 to 3, but since that time, renewed agitation for "fast time" has caused at least one councilman to change his mind.

Whether other councilmen will be swung over in favor of the measure is not known, but observers believe that the measure may be passed by a vote of 5 to 4.

Jews Block Egyptians

(By Associated Press)

Israeli troops threw back an Egyptian spearhead within 14 miles of Tel Aviv and bottled up the main Egyptian force striking up Palestine's coast nine miles further south, a Jewish communique said last night.

The Egyptians disputed the Jewish claims and announced advances of their own in the same general area.

An Associated Press dispatch from central Palestine said Iraqi troops were digging in around Jenin, northern anchor of Arab triangle menacing Tel Aviv, after throwing back a Jewish offensive there.

The dispatch quoted the Iraqi commander as saying that 3,000 to 4,000 Israeli troops withdrew to positions five miles north of the town after losing almost 600 dead in two strong attacks.

Previously an Israeli communique said Jewish troops held firm in that area and beat back Arab charges.

The coastal fighting centered at Yibna, highpoint of the Egyptian thrust, and around Isdud where the Jews said they had hemmed in a "considerable" Egyptian force including some of King Farouk's armor.

Roman Catholic dignitaries in Jerusalem announced a protest against what they said was the failure of the Jews to respect holy places in the fighting in the city.

The accident occurred on a Pickaway county road south of Harrisburg, 15 miles southwest of here. Biggest Soil Show Planned

Plans for the largest soil conservation demonstration ever attempted in the United States were formed yesterday at a meeting at Louis Bromfield's Malabar Farm.

At the meeting were members of the Ohio Valley Second Frontier advisory board, of which Bromfield is chairman. Seventy-two attended.

The Second Frontier program will be held Sept. 23 and 24 on 322 acres of Ohio river valley soil, 12 miles north of the Ohio river. The farm is on U. S. Route 35, between Jackson and Gallipolis.

The demonstration will be under the sponsorship of the Ohio Soil Conservation service.

Charles J. Martin of Columbus, former News-Journal staff member and publicity director of the event, said more than 125,000 persons, including the governors of five states, are expected to attend. An effort is being made to have the secretary of agriculture designate those days as National Conservation days, Martin asserted

USE 105 TRACTORS

He said 105 tractors and eight bulldozers will be used. Two farm ponls will be built. Five hundred pounds of pasture seed will be sown. Five thousand dollars worth of fertilizer will be put in the soil.

There will be a complete demonstration of pasture renovation. During the two days, diversion ditches and terraces will be built. There will be demonstrations of contour plowing. Seeding of 130 acres in small grains, winter wheat, will take place.

The proceedings will be broadcast over national networks, and leading newspapers and farm magazines will have representatives at the exhibition.

Coal Pension Fight Flares

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The battle over coal miners' pensions flared again Saturday as the United Mine Workers and the soft coal operators prepared to renew their contract negotiations Monday.

John L. Lewis's union obtained a survey made to the operators March 12 by the Philadelphia firm of Towers, Perrin, Forster and Crosby, and used it as a basis for attacking the operators' statistical estimates on pensions.

The union made public a memorandum to Lewis by Murray W. Latimer, former chairman of the U. S. Railroad Retirement board. In it, Latimer compared the operators' March 12 survey with a previous survey made by the same company last Nov. 6.

Latimer said that the company has changed its estimate of the pensions that can be paid out of the miners' welfare fund. Latimer said that on Nov. 6 the company "suggested that, as a transitional arrangement, pensions of $50 beginning at age 70 might be paid They now conclude that $100 a month, inclusive of social security, can be paid beginning at 65."

Ezra Van Horn, the operators' trustee on the welfare fund, acknowledged the existence of the March 12 survey. But he told a reporter.

"I haven't made it public. I don't know how they got it I would like very much to know."

Prince's Tie Badly Knotted, British Say

LONDON - (AP) - A British tailors' magazine gave this verdict Saturday on an outfit worn by the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Princess Elizabeth:

"A well-made suit spoilt by a badly-knotted tie and an ill-fitting collar"

The magazine Men's Wear, said: "No one is suggesting that he should become a walking tailor's dummy, but if he could be advised on and supplied with the very best clothes British master craftsmen can make, then a standard could be set."

Outlines 'Action Now' Bid

150,000 Cheer Him In Omaha

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

OMAHA — (AP) — President Truman challenged Republican rivals last night to spur congress into doing its share on a four-point program to "assure the future welfare of American agriculture."

Here in this "breadbasket of the nation," Mr. Truman spoke up again for just about the same farm formula he offered to congress on May 14—price supports, soil conservation, adequate markets, more government help. This time he called for "action now."

Earlier in the day, his Kansas City barber by his side, President Truman paraded briskly past 150,000 whooping midwesterners at a reunion with buddies of World War I.

Shoulders back, hat waving to crowds, Mr. Truman trudged over almost a mile of lumpy brick paving at a get together of the 35th Division association.

On his arm, the former field artillery captain pinned the red and gold band of the old Battery D—and carrying Battery D's banner beside him was Frank Spina, the man who trims his hair in Kansas City.

'BIGGEST IN 10 YEARS'

Police Chief Robert Munch figured 150,000 to 165,000 people turned out to view the parade and the president.

"Biggest crowd we've had here in 10 years," one of his assistants remarked.

The President in his speech did not mention by name Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) or former Minnesota Governor Harold E. Stassen. They stumped Nebraska during the recent Republican primary campaign.

But Mr. Truman said "prominent politicians" had moved into the state for farm speeches in that campaign. He said they have influence with congress, so it is fair to ask, "Why doesn't congress act?"

CAN'T STRADDLE

"I believe the time has passed," he said, "when a man can be for a farm program when he is in the west and against a farm program when he is in the east.

"If everybody is in favor of a farm program, now is the time for the congress to act."

Mr. Truman said the measures

U. S., Russia Face Crucial U. N. Session

Showdown Expected Among Big Powers

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— The 1948 meeting of the United Nations assembly already is being labeled as a showdown session of big power politics. The meeting will be under way when the United States votes for president.

It is felt in top circles here that any new American or Russian diplomatic moves would be influenced by the national election and develop rapidly at the assembly. The United States has insisted that efforts to close the gap between Washington and Moscow must be channeled through the U.N.

The 58-nation session opens Sept. 21 in Paris and is expected to run until late November. The presidential election is Nov. 2. No one here doubts that Kremlin calendars have a red circle around that date.

The assembly program lists most of the world's top political problems. In virtually every case, the main issue is the United States versus the Soviet Union.

Aside from continuous meetings of the 11-nation security council, the assembly sessions provide the only major U.N. forum for political debates. A regular assembly is held every fall. There have been two special sessions on the Palestine problem.

Decisions—some of them final—are anticipated in Paris on such problems as international control of atomic energy, global arms reduction, Greece, Palestine, Korea and the Italian colonies.

The stalemated German, Japanese and Austrian peace treaties may be tossed into the hopper.

MAJOR ISSUES

The assembly calendar up to now shows these major issues.

1. Atomic energy. The U.N. Atomic Energy commission has broken off talks after two years because of failure to get agreement between Russian and the American-led majority on measures for international control. This throws the problem back in the lap of the assembly, which set up the atomic commission as one of its first acts at the opening U.N. session in London in January, 1946.

2. Arms reduction. No progress has been made on the ambitious scheme of cutting down the world's armaments; this was placed before the 1946 autumn assembly in New York by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov as a surprise move. The question is now expected to go back to the assembly.

3. Italian colonies. The Italian peace treaty provides that if the United States, Britain, France and Russia have not been able to agree on disposition of the Italian colonies by Sept. 15, the problem shall go before the assembly. Reports from London meetings of the Big Four deputies say there is hardly a chance for agreement in the next three months.

4. Greece Soviet satellites Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria continued to bar a U.N. investigating commission attempting to settle differences between the trio and Greece. From all appearances the fighting still will be going on in Greece this fall and the assembly again will try to find ways to stop it.

5. Palestine. It looks like the Holy Land problem is going to be with the U.N. a long time. The 1948 special assembly, April 16-May 14 did nothing to settle it. All current efforts have been toward stopping the war. The political future remains in doubt and that's up to the assembly. Israel's application for U.N. membership probably will clear the security council and be ready for the assembly by fall.

6. Korea. Some decision will have to be taken on the political future of Korea now that elections have been held in the southern zone controlled by the U.S. Russia considers the voting illegal and still has barricades along the line dividing the south from the Soviet-controlled northern zone.

The old dispute of the veto will be up again too. Soviet and medium powers still are trying to eliminate the veto from the charter, the United States is attempting to modify it and the Russians are insisting that it stand as is.

MUENCHES MOVES IN

BOSTON —(AP)— The un-New Englandish name of Muench may become a power in the realm of Lowells, Cabots and Lodges. Charles Muench will take over the baton of Serge Koussevitsky as permanent conductor of the Boston Symphony next spring and Charles Lawrence Muench president of Hood Rubber company, has just become president of the chamber of Commerce. The two are not related.

Candidates' Wives Know How to Cook

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Most of the women who are watching their husbands campaign for the job in the White House seem to measure up to the ideal of the average, middle class, middle aged American male.

They are women who don't talk about their husband's business in public. They know how to cook. They raise children. There is nothing even vaguely Lana Turner or Jane Addams about any of them.

There is one slight exception: The plump and talkative Mrs. (Martha) Robert Taft, wife of the Ohio senator. She alone makes speeches for her husband, speeches well larded with wisecracks and witticisms. Her husband's political friends frequently have expressed gratitude for her ability to get audiences to laugh.

Except for Mrs. (Esther) Harold Stassen, wife of the Minnesota Republican contender, none of them has any active interests outside their own menus, tea parties, children and husbands.

Friendly little Mrs. Stassen has found time to help several children's institutions in the St. Paul area—hospitals, orphanages, and the like. She also has worked with garden clubs, church societies and the League of Women Voters.

HELPS YOUNG PEOPLE

Mrs. (Hazel) Arthur Vandenberg, wife of the Michigan senator, who could turn out to be the dark horse of the Republican convention, is an unofficial exception to "no interests outside the home."

She has helped dozens of young people to success, but refuses to talk about it. At least one successful novelist has dedicated a book to her because she gave him self-confidence.

Of all the women—the Mesdames Truman, Stassen, Dewey, MacArthur, Taft, Warren, Wallace and Vandenberg—the one who probably knows the capitol city the best is Mrs. Vandenberg. She has not only lived here the longest, but she has a warm reach for friendships that has taken her into the social doings of many groups.

Her own parties are legendary because of her ability to turn out rich and unique tidbits for jaded Washington appetites.

She probably knows more international secrets than any woman in Washington because she has attended several world conferences with her husband. But she limits her anecdotes about them to her own fright when she learned she would have to fly the Atlantic to attend the Paris conference of 1946, and to stories of washing out her husband's socks in a fancy Paris bathroom.

Mrs. Taft appears to be the vivacious middle-aged belle of that section of the Republican party which is rallying around her husband. She is a loyal attendant at the senate debates in which her husband takes part.

Martha Taft has a vast and vocal belief in "Bob's" superiority. She tells people proudly and fondly that he is "frank, honest and, of course, able."

Politicians around her husband respect Mrs. Taft's campaign shrewdness, and he pays her the compliment of reading his speeches to her for criticism.

GIVE SPEECH ADVICE

Most of the other men also turn to their wives for speech advice.

Little, trim Mrs. (Frances) Thomas E. Dewey has been listening to the speeches of her husband, the governor of New York, for many years. She reserves her comments for the closed-door seances, however, and on campaign trips limits herself to the role of loyal shadow. She makes friends for her husband.

None of the wives of presidential aspirants has had so hard a row to hoe as brown-eyed, gentle Mrs. (Ilo) Henry Wallace. She lived in Washington through her husband's days of popularity in the early New Deal days.

Now she must read the many criticisms that are made of him as a third party leader. But she asserts that Mr. Wallace has been ahead of his times so often that she expects again that he will be vindicated as more people adopt his ideas about world peace.

Blue-eyed, blonde Mrs. (Nina) Earl Warren, wife of the governor of California, has been too busy looking after the welfare of their six children to bother with an outside career. Now that the children are older she finds time to accompany the governor on some of his trips about the state, but she has made it an invariable rule not to make a public talk.

Mrs. (Jean Marie) Douglas MacArthur is unknown in Washington, but the slim, dark attractive woman probably has been through more real life drama than all the other wives put together. She chose to stay on Corregidor with her husband as the Japanese closed in, and she accompanied him on that dangerous submarine getaway to Australia.

'ARMY DAUGHTER'

She was an army daughter and had long campaigned for the Daughters of the American Revolution ideas of national defense when fate saw fit to make her wife of the man who was to become one of the nation's outstanding military leaders.

The matronly Mrs. (Bess) Harry Truman, who now lives in the White House, and may return to it, depending on how the chips fall, made a complete about-face for the job of first lady when she took it over.

In contrast to the weekly occasions when women of the press trooped into the White House to talk with Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Mrs. Truman never has held a press conference. After three years in the White House she did answer a list of questions through her secretary.

She said that standard equipment for the job should be "good health, a sense of humor and a course in public speaking." She said that after 25 years of politics by the side of her husband "I have learned to accept criticism—to some extent."

Propaganda Of Reds Fails

BERLIN —(AP)— Despite strong Russian propaganda to the contrary, most Berliners believe the western powers will remain in Berlin, according to a poll taken by the American Military Government.

The opinion sampling was conducted by AMG's information control division in the three western sectors of Berlin—occupied by the U. S., Britain and France—which contain two-thirds of the city's 3¼ million population.

In October, 1947, 74 per cent believed the western powers would not withdraw. Later a Russian propaganda barrage attempted to convince Berliners that the Western Powers were the "splitters" of Germany and had forfeited their right to remain here. To test the effect of this propaganda, the American agency again asked Berliners this spring whether they believed the western occupiers would withdraw. Seventy-six per cent of those questioned said they believed they would not.

Film Plan Backfires

Public Dissatisfied With New Movies

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The movie industry's economy program seems to be backfiring.

Theatre owners are alarmed by the public's reaction. Movie goers, they say, apparently consider the retrenchment so stringent that the quality of pictures is suffering.

Yet there at the studio end, paradoxically, the financial cutback still looks a little phony.

A lot of stenographers, publicists and clerks have been dropped from the rolls. But in the high brackets (above $20,000 a year) a survey shows that executive and talent salaries increased $11,071,331 last year.

The Theater Owners of America (TOA), reporting a boxoffice decline at a directors' conference here in March, appointed a committee to investigate.

Findings, just disclosed in a statement by Paul Williams of the TOA legal staff, emphasize that film quality has not been sacrificed in the pursuit of economy.

Logical steps have been taken to eliminate waste in shooting hours and to discard inferior technical apparatus which couldn't be replaced in wartime, the report said.

OWNERS 'SATISFIED'

Dick Dickson, Southern California manager of Fox West Coast theaters, elaborating on the committee report, said theater owners are satisfied with the present studio product.

The public's reaction to the economy program, in his opinion, "is a psychological state." Pictures, he said, "are better than the public thinks they are." Neither does the TOA consider first-run theater prices too high, in view of the 20 per cent federal tax.

Presumably the public isn't convinced, since theater operators report boxoffice receipts have been declining materially.

(The committee's representatives did not attempt to justify the claim of falling receipts with federal amusement tax collections, which showed that film admission revenues for 1947 exceeded the peak figure of $1,562,179,235 for 1946).

Seven major producing companies, according to a trade paper survey (Weekly Variety), paid out $85,168,292 last year in salaries to employes earning more than $20,000 a year. They numbered 1,466, against 1,351 in 1946.

In presenting the TOA committee findings, Williams and Dickson did not cite any specific major measures by which purported economies are being effected. Nor did they offer any figures. Such reticence heightens the impression among observers here that, as in the past, thrift is a virtue loudly discussed but seldom practiced in Hollywood.

Such evidence as there is of an economy program varies widely from one set to another.

Generally, there seems to be less delay between scenes and setups. Fewer "epics" are being filmed. More pictures are being finished on time.

Yet millions are still being spent on some pictures. The budgets of these merely aren't publicized. The only cost figures in studio announcements these days are those few which happen to be excessively low.

Inscribed is "Liberty of Zion." The 10 m pale violet also illustrates a coin of the First Revolution and is inscribed "The Third Year."

The 15 m red pictures a coin of the Second Revolution and the inscription "The First Year of the Establishment of Israel." The 20 m blue portrays a shekel of the second year of the First Revolution. The inscription reads "Israel Arises Again." The 50 m brown displays a coin of the Second Revolution and the inscription "First Year of the Establishment of Israel."

The 250 m dark green, 500 m red brown and 1,000 m dark blue show two coins and bear inscriptions "Israel Arises."

BLACK BASS SEASON WILL OPEN AGAIN

The black bass season for the Lake Erie fishing district will reopen again at midnight June 30.

The district is defined as those waters of Lake Erie, the waters of Sandusky Bay as far west as a continuation due south to the Sandusky county shore of the section line between sections 23 and 24 in Bay townships.

The black bass season for the inland waters of the state, except in those lakes and waters designated as experimental waters where closed seasons, legal lengths and bag limits shall not apply, will reopen at midnight, June 15.

TRY MOTHS FOR BLUEGILLS

J. L. Brucker writes: Why don't more bluegill fishermen use real millers for bait? These small brown or gray moths that gather on screens and flutter around lights on summer evenings are among the best warm-weather bluegill lures that he has found.

In the heat of July and August, when bluegill fishing is at the lowest point of the year, send a miller down into the cool depths where the big fellows are hiding out, and you're almost sure to get action. And nibblers, the undersized bait stealers that lurk near the surface, show little interest in the millers.

Gathering a supply presents no problem. A lamp or lantern placed on a screened porch, or a porch light turned on, soon attracts enough for a fishing trip.

There is no point in trying to take the moths alive for they die anyway when threaded on a hook. Catch them in your hands, pinch the heads just enough to kill them, and drop 'em into the bait box for the next morning's bluegill foray.

Thread a moth on the hook tail-first, so that the head—the hardest part of a miller—will cover the point. And leave the wings on, of course. The millers' bodies are too soft to be very durable bait. But if you handle them right you should be able to make each moth account for a bluegill, and that's good enough.

TEN SECOND BIOGRAPHY

The alligator snapper of lower Mississippi regions, largest semi-aquatic United States turtle, sometimes grows a yard long, weighs more than a hundred pounds. He was named from the legend that he's half alligator, half turtle. Like all snappers he'll eat practically anything, but cannot swallow food without submerging. Irritable, vicious, he can be dangerous antagonist, capable of crushing a boat oar or taking off a man's hand at one snap.

Trio Involve Teams With No Defeats

Although 15 of Mansfield's 34 league softball teams are still riding the unbeaten trail, only three of 19 games this week involve perfect record clubs.

Five outfits fell off the unblemished perch last week.

Veterans of Foreign Wars of the Club league and Farm Tools and Ideal Electric of the Industrial circuit have all won three games to pace the pack. VFW goes against AVC Friday night while the Toolmen play Mansfield Plumbing and Ideal meets Telephone company Wednesday.

UNDEFEATED TEAMS

Games between the undefeated teams include: Tappan Stove and Ohio Brass in the Girls' league, Park Avenue Baptist and St. Matthew's in the Church league and Johns and North Lake in the Park league.

Sons of Herman, defending Club loop champ, lost its first game last week to VFW, 13 to 5.

★

Regular meeting of the Mansfield softball commission will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA, Fred Tharp president of the group, announced last night.

Demaret Leading By Single Stroke

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(AP)— A third par-busting card yesterday kept Jimmy Demaret out front by a single stroke through three rounds of the Albuquerque Open Golf tournament.

The Ojai, Calif., pro stroked in with a five-under-par in the afternoon to post a score of 201 for 54 holes. Still dogging his heels was Clayton Heafner, who also had a 67 to go with his previous 135 for a 202 total.

Yale Gets Babe Ruth's Book

By LOU BLACK

NEW HAVEN, Conn. —(AP)— Babe Ruth gave Yale a book yesterday and the response he got brought to his tanned face the look of a gent who had just been handed an honorary degree.

Standing near home plate at Yale field, where he holds the home run long distance record, the Babe, in a husky whisper, said:

"I have been to New Haven many, many times over the years, but this is one of the best."

That's all the big crowd, including hundreds of kids seeing the Babe for the first time, waited to hear before breaking loose with the second tremendous cheer of the afternoon.

The first great shout came as the home run king, riding in an open car, entered the park along with the initial appearance of the sun. It had rained all morning and up until just before time for the Yale-Princton game which Yale won 14-2.

He said in a brief talk that tugged at many heartstrings:

"I am here to present the original manuscript of the Babe Ruth story to Captain (George) Bush of Yale. It has lots of fun and a lot of laughs and a lot of crying, too. I almost forgot while looking around that a picture has been made from the book which I hope you will enjoy.

"You know," he smiled, "in a story you can't put everything in, so I left out a few things."

Grownups in the crowd, familiar with some of the episodes in Babe's youthful days, smiled with him. A few wiped tears from their eyes.

The nattily-dressed Babe handed the book with the original 'script to Bush. Yale's first baseman turned it over to Prof. James T. Babb, university librarian, who wished the Babe "good luck."

Ruth was introduced by Bob Kiphuth, Yale's athletic director, who said the Babe "has been and still is the idol of baseball fans everywhere."

As Ruth, with head bent and a cigar clutched in his right hand listened intently, Kiphuth continued:

"Babe Ruth has not retired from baseball! He is active with junior boys baseball throughout the nation.

Phillies Sweep 2 Tilts From Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO —(AP)— The Philadelphia Phillies swept a double header with the Chicago Cubs yesterday 4 to 2 and 6 to 5, to take the final four tilts of their five-game series.

Richie Ashburn, rookie outfielder of the Phillies, rolled his batting streak up to 23 consecutive games by collecting a single in the first game and three singles in the second.

The Phillies nailed down the first victory by routing Cliff Chambers with a three run rally in the sixth inning. Granny Hamner singled two runs across. The third one tallied on an error.

Better Self's Yankee Victor

BOSTON —(AP)— King ranch's three-year-old Better Self, taking over at the quarter-pole, won the $50,000-added Yankee handicap by three lengths from William G. Helis' Salmagundi on a sloppy track yesterday before an estimated 23,000 crowd at Suffolk Downs.

As Better Self turned the mile and a quarter in 2:05 3/5, the Honeywell Farm's Dole gained the show in the six-horse field.

The early leader, the Brookmeade stable's Dart By, coupled with Splash, wound up fourth and C. V. Whitney's Quarter Pole was last.

Rich Ashburn Hits In 23rd

CHICAGO —(AP)— Richie Ashburn, leftfielder for the Philadelphia Phils, apparently set a new record for first-year players yesterday when he hit in his 22nd and 23rd consecutive games.

Best available figures showed the longest previous streak by a rookie as 22 games by Johnny Mize, then with the St. Louis Cardinals, in 1936, and Dale Mitchell of Cleveland in 1947.

The major league record for consecutive hitting is 56 games by Joe DiMaggio in 1941. The modern National league record is 37 by Tommy Holmes of Boston in 1945.

My Love Wins 169th Derby In Mud, Rain

EPSOM, England — (AP) — My Love, French-bred colt, burst into the lead 200 yards from home yesterday to win the 169th running of the Epsom Derby by a length and a half. The King and the royal family were among the spectators, whose number was estimated up to a million.

The winner paid 100 to 9 and was followed across the finish by Royal Drake. Noor was third, another four lengths in back. Thus the top three purses in this richest of all derbies went to two men.

Less than a month ago the Aga Khan paid Leon Volterra, Paris movie magnate, $50,000 for a half interest in My Love. The Indian potentate was positive none of the colts he owned would bring him his fourth derby victory.

In addition to sharing the first prize of $49,736, Volterra also is the owner of the second-place Royal Drake and Noor is the personal property of the Aga Khan.

My Babu, the 4 to 1 favorite, was fourth and Black Tarquin, owned by New York's William Woodward, was a struggling eighth after making a bid three furloughs from the wire. Woodward's second colt, Senator II, finished far back.

My Love whipped the largest derby field in 86 years — there were 32 starters—by doing the mile and a half on the uphill-downhill, rain-soaked racing strip in two minutes and 40 seconds. It was the slowest time since 1932.

Team Sails Home

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng.—(AP)— Louise Suggs of Atlanta, and her mates on the U. S. Curtis cup golf team, sailed for home yesterday with their luggage filled with all the silverware Britain offers women golfers in major championships.

St. Louis Cards Cut New York's Margin

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals narrowed the league leading New York Giants' margin to half a game yesterday when they overcame a 4-0 deficit and defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-6. Eight of the Redbirds' nine runs were unearned.

Trailing 4-0, the Cards tallied six times in the bottom half of the third inning to take a lead they never relinquished. Enos Slaughter highlighted the big inning with a grand slam home run. Nippy Jones acounted for the other runs with a two-run homer. A wild throw by Third Baseman Johnny Jorgensen paved the way for the runs, all unearned.

Harry Taylor, making his first start since April 29, was the victim of this uprising, with all of the runs coming after two were out.

ANOTHER WILD THROW

Another wild throw by Jorgensen paved the way for two more Cardinal runs in the sixth. With two out and Marty Marion on base as a result of Jorgenson's three-base error, Erv Dusak singled in a run and Red Schoendienst doubled in another. It was one of Schoendienst's four hits.

Dickson, although stung for 11 hits, stayed around until the eighth when a home run by Gene Hermanski, a single by Pee Wee Reese and a double by Dick Whitman accounted for two Brooklyn runs. Ted Wilks then took over and struck out Eddie Miksis to end the uprising.

Both of Jorgensen's errors came with two out. If the throws had been good the Cardinals would not have scored in either inning. Therefore the runs were unearned and won't count against Taylor's earned run average.

American Net Stars Feature Brussels Meet

BRUSSELS, Belgium— (AP) — It won't be an all-American windup in the Brussels international tennis championships today—but it will be close to it.

The victory of Hungarian Mrs. Szuszy Kormoczy over Doris Hart of Miami, Fla, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, makes the women's singes final an American-European competition.

The only other European opportunity exists in men's doubles, but it appeared slim. Frankie Parker and Budge Patty of Los Angeles held a 6-1, 7-5, 4-5 advantage over Frenchmen Robert Abdesselam and Jean Thomas when rain interrupted their semi-final match.

ITALIANS ADVANCE

The Americans were considered the mostly likey to play the Italian pair of Marcello Del Bello and Gianni Cucelli in the finals. The Italians had advanced by defeating Philippe Washer, Belgian Davis cupper, and the Frenchman Christian Boussus, 7-5, 6-2, 6-4.

Mrs. Kormoczy will play Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., in the women's singles final. Mrs. Todd vanquished Mrs. Mary Arnold Rentiss of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-2, in a semi-final.

The women's doubles final ended yesterday as Mrs. Todd and Miss Hart took a 6-1, 6-4 match from the Americans Mrs. Prentiss and Shirley Fry, Akron, O., and Rollins college.

The Parker-Patty pair, which is teamed in doubles, will split for combat over the men's singles championship.

The top-seeded Parker advanced with a 6-3, 6-0, 6-3 victory over Washer. Patty moved up with a prolonged 3-6, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 triumph over the Italian Davis cupper, Del Bello.

TEE TIME

By Charley Stine

(News-Journal Sports Writer)

With summer sunshine and dry greens finally here to stay, the tournament bug is once again swarming down on Mansfield's army of divot-diggers, making them dream of pars and birdies.

Today's golfing spotlight is shared by Al Hager's entry in the National Open and the district qualifier for the Ohio Public Links tournament.

Whether any local golfers will enter the qualifier at Akron this afternoon is not certain since no word of it was received here until Saturday. Through a fumble somewhere along the line, no word was received at the local courses, both of which are members of the U. S. Public Links association.

However, two or three Mansfielders will have an opportunity to compete in the state Publinx in Toledo June 18-18-20. W. F. Bebout, district manager, said last night that any Mansfield golfers desiring to compete in the state event should write him immediately at 2809 Northland street, Cuyahoga Falls.

He will then send the list of golfers back to Mansfield. The top two or three will then be selected by Fred Huntsman, Coolridge; Irish McGee, Possum Run and the News-Journal sports department.

★

Next major competition will be the amateurs' qualifying tournament for the $10,000 Columbus Open. The qualifier will be June 16 at the Wyandotte Country club in Columbus, scene of the rich joust. The ten low qualifiers will be eligible to compete against the country's best July 8-11.

Meanwhile, Public Links golfers will be getting ready for the U. S. Amateur to be played in Atlanta on July 19-24. The qualifying round for the amateur will be played at Seneca Country club in Cleveland on June 16. Anywhere from a half-dozen to fifteen local club-swingers are expected to participate.

★

While all these regular tournaments are holding the spotlight, a novel and very profitable affair will be going on at the Breathnach Country club in Akron.

A new automobile will go to the winner of a hole-in-one tournament sponsored by Sportscaster Bill Pierson of WHKK. Scores will be tallied by a target arrangement on the green of a designated 135-yard hole.

In addition to the chance at the automobile each golfer sinking an ace during the month-long tourney will get a $100 merchandise prize.

Only qualification necessary to fire in the tournament is that one have a fifty cent entry fee for five shots. The entry fee will be turned over to the Akron Children's home.

If enough Mansfielders are interested in the tourney, Pierson has agreed to set aside a special day for a party from here with a special prize being given to the top scorer. The N-J sports department will be glad to line up the program with Pierson if groups or individuals will inform us of their desire to enter.

★

Puttering Around — The third hole at Possum Run really took a beating from News-Journal A league golfers Tuesday. . . . Ray Malaska, Dick Gaubatz and Phil Schwaner each fired birdies on the long uphill hole—but lost. . . . Pete Thoma picked that as a good time to come up with an eagle.

Two more spectacular shots were reported recently at Westbrook. . . . Adam Brandt sank a 160-yard approach for a deuce on the 342-yard fourth hole. . . . He had witnesses, too, in the persons of Bob Cruickshank and Dick Wentworth. . . . Jim Newcomb was the other who looped one for the record. . . . Newcomb holed out from 150 yards away shooting with a seven iron for an eagle on the 520-yard third hole.

Tight N-J 'A' Golf League May Open Up

The News-Journal A Golf league race—tight ever since the opening round—could be blasted wide open this week should any of the three top teams hit a hot streak.

Blue Goose Tavern, led by long-ball hitter Pete Thoma will risk its league lead in a meeting with Orr Typewriter, which is just one point behind the top.

Tied with Blue Goose for the lead is Ideal Billiards which will take on Penn Auto. Smokehouse, minus its star, Al Hager, will vie with Myers Supply, while Flexible Conveyor tangles with PD's Bar.

Blue Goose and Ideal have scored nine points in setting the league pace, while Orr has 8, Flexible 7, Myers 7, Penn Auto 7, Smokehouse 7, and PD's Bar 6.

2 Jamaicans Set Records

BERKELEY, Calif. —(AP)— Two swift Jamaica-born foot racers stole the show yesterday with record performances in the annual Pacific association (AAU) track and field championships.

Herb McKenley sped to a 46-second win in the 440-yard run, clipping three-tenth of second off his listed world record time set in the same stadium a year ago.

Lloyd La Beach hit the 100-yard dash finish tape in 9.4 to tie the official record already held by Frank Wykoff, Jesse Owens, Clyde Jeffrey, George Simpson and Mel Patton, all Americans, and D. Joubert of South Africa. La Beach recently chased Patton to a record-exceeding 9.3 in Fresno, Calif.

McKenley will represent Jamaica and La Beach Panama in the Olympic games at London.

Two Teams Tie for NCO Lead

G-R Outfit, Ashland Top Standings

At full strength for the first time this year, the Mansfield Gorman-Rupp softball team will settle down this week to the serious job of holding onto first place in the North Central Ohio Inter-City softball league.

Mansfield and Ashland are currently tied for the league lead with two victories and no defeats. Ashland can take over temporary possession this week as they have two games scheduled to the local's one.

PARK GAME JUNE 16

The payoff, however, will come June 16 when Manager Nick Weber's Gorman-Rupp team invades Ashland in a game that might very well see two undefeated teams clashing. The teams meet four times during the league season.

Gorman-Rupp's league opponent this week will be Willard Thursday night. The game is scheduled for the Willard field. Ashland plays at Marion Monday and entertains Mt. Vernon Wednesday.

Other games listed this week show Marion at Tiffin Wednesday and Tiffin at Mt. Vernon Thursday.

Catcher Paul Wolfe, out of the city recently will join the team within the next week.

Before getting into league play this week, Gorman-Rupp has a formidable foe to tangle with Tuesday night. Akron Firestone, one of the best in that city, will be here for a game at 8:30 p. m.

Judge Dismisses Promoter's Claim

DES MOINES—(AP)—Federal Judge Charles Dewey has dismissed claims of a Davenport, Ia., promoter against Bob Feller, Cleveland American league pitcher.

The promoter, Ray Doan, had asked a total of $42,500 from Feller, charging the baseball player broke an agreement whereby Doan contended he was to manage Feller's activities during the 1945 off-season. The case was tried at Davenport two weeks ago and the ruling was announced yesterday.

World War III Will Require Pushbuttons to Push Buttons

By JAMES J. STREBIG
(Aviation Reporter)

WASHINGTON—(AP)—It looks like that pushbutton air war may have to include pushbuttons to push pushbuttons.

Because it's going to be such a fast war that the bombardier's senses will hardly be quick enough to twirl the knobs and things while the plane covers the last mile before bombs-away.

Speed will bring many changes in aircraft design too. The day of gun-bristling warplanes is about over.

Fighting craft will have to tuck in their arms for flight at very high altitude and speeds. Guns, rockets and bombs sticking out into 600-mile-an-hour airstreams create a costly drag. Streamlining will have to go all the way.

Here is a little of what aviation ordnance experts see:

Turrets will be retractable. Guns will be shorter, but they will be heavier calibre, harder hitting and faster firing. Remote control will be the rule rather than the exception. Automatic gun laying or sighting equipment will be reduced in relative size from a melon to a peanut.

Bomb designs either will be changed to conform to the needs of very high speed ,or they will be hung in special containers aerodynamically suited for super speeds.

DISAPPEARING ROCKETS

Airborne rockets may be either put inside the wing and popped out on racks for firing or hung on racks which will drop off or disappear into the wing after firing

Gun ports will be covered when not in use to avoid needless drag. Escape ports behind the guns are likely to avoid too high pressures from the combination of ram air and gun cases.

Used shells will not be ejected into the air as was the World War II custom. They will remain aboard the plane for two reasons: To help maintain proper fore and aft balance and to avoid hitting the firing plane or an accompanying plane. Furthermore, this will eliminate another port hole and therefore possible drag.

FASTER, MORE ACCURATE

And the experts must make everything work faster and more accurately than ever before, at greater distances and with less time.

Bombing technique is one of the big problems.

The best World War II bombers usually dropped from altitudes around 22000 feet at speeds of around 240 miles an hour. The newest bombers will fly at about 600 miles an hour and operate at 50,000 feet.

The world-war bombardier released his bombs roughly 2½ miles from the target. If there is a World War III, bombardiers will be making their releases more than ten miles from the target.

Since the size of the target will be the same, distance will multiply aiming errors.

Present bomb designs are the result of long studies to determine behavior in free falls. While fine for bombs, they are not necessarily designs best suited to jet propulsion speeds. That is why bombs carried externally may be housed in "aerodynamically clean" casings.

Bombers customarily carry their payload in bomb bays. But jet planes are very small bodied—little room for bomb bays. Yet jet fighters are being used to haul bombs and rockets.

The bombs cannot be hung close to the underside of the wing as was possible at slower speeds Air tubulence results and there is a tendency of the bomb to kick up its tail at release and strike the wing. Bomb racks on jet planes are being made longer.

Guns are a major problem for some jet types. Barrels simply cannot protrude on 600-mile-an-hour planes. The drag would waste huge amounts of engine thrust and make it difficult to maneuver the gun for aiming.

SHORT GUN BARRELS

The small size of jet planes requires redesign of guns to shorten their overall length. Ordnance men want to avoid shortening barrels because that would sacrifice range and accuracy at a time when more of both is needed.

Since the time available to the high-speed combat airman is less, guns must fire faster and do more damage per hit. The tendency is to replace 50 calibre machine guns with small cannon that fire just as rapidly. A 20-millimeter (about ¾ inch diameter) cannon which fires about 600 to 700 times a minute—equal to the machine gun rate in World War II—has been developed

The high cost of bullets, rockets and bombs for super-speed warplanes, with the relatively small amounts which can be carried by a plane, require great accuracy.

Air force and naval aviation experts are working on automatic means of sighting and firing guns and aiming and releasing bombs. Speed and distances involving very high speed flight will make it impractical to depend entirely on human vision.

Dropping a bomb on something more than ten miles away is just one phase of the problem. The release point arrives in a very short time. At 600 miles an hour, the last mile before point of release is covered in six seconds.

Ever Been In a Roundhouse...?

... a roundhouse—that is—where they check over those big diesel or steam locomotives like the Pennsylvania use to haul those heavy freight. ... Well, a locomotive costs a lot of money and the railroad people don't trust to luck—not with million dollar equipment. Here's what they do—mind you—with an expert at the throttle and running over smooth rails; they put those big engines right into the roundhouse, or railroad garage, every twenty-four hours for a complete check-up. Get it?

The railroad people demand brains as well as a firm hand on the throttle and here's another BUT ... they don't wait for the engine to fall apart before calling the doctor. Those folks have found out that proper care prevents accidents, saves lives, and saves money. That's why they keep their valuable equipment in tip-top shape.

That Chrysler or Plymouth you are driving was built with loving care and precision. We fondled it and inspected it before we delivered it to you. Since then, it has been driven thousands of miles. It has hit bumps and pot-holes and generally it has had a good banging around—and all drivers are not experts like the engineer on a big Mogul.

So, here at Herring Motors, we ask you not to keep your car out in the cold world too long. Bring it back home for a check-up once in a while. You too, will find that it pays to bring your car into our roundhouse where our auto doctors will look it over. If it's got troubles, we'll fix it up and give it back to you ... Just like new.

Ford Hikes Auto Price

New Models to Cost Nine Per Cent More

DETROIT —(AP)—Henry Ford II boosted prices on his 1949 model Fords nearly nine per cent Saturday, possibly pacing the auto industry on another upward spiral.

He said the new cars would cost from $85 to $125 more than present models. He did not list prices per model.

The current Ford models cost from $1,154 to $1,972 delivered, plus state sales taxes and transportation charges.

General Motors corporation has said it will try to hold the price line on its current models despite the recent 11-cent an hour sliding wage settlement with its 225,000 CIO United Auto Workers.

Chrysler corporation, which gave its 75,000 employes a 13-cent an hour wage boost, has not said what effect, if any, this might have on its prices.

However, neither GM nor Chrysler has brought out any drastically new model low-priced cars since the war. They plan to do so, probably before the end of the year.

Ford said his annual bill for materials and parts had increased $145,000,000 in two years. His employes' payroll jumped $120,000,000 in that period even without a third round of postwar wage increases, he added.

The UAW-CIO is scheduled to begin negotiations with Ford June 14. The union is asking a 30-cent an hour wage boost. Ford currently pays an average wage slightly over $1.50 an hour.

Aid Estimates Due By July 1

PARIS —(AP)— European countries must submit their estimates of needs for 1948-1949 under the European recovery program by July 1.

This was announced Saturday at the end of a three day meeting of the council of European organization for economic cooperation. W. Averell Harriman, U. S. Ambassador at large in charge of the American aid program, attended.

Jewel Package Left Unclaimed

MANILLA (Sunday) —(AP)— A package containing 2,100 cut white sapphires and 540 unpolished sapphires from Siam is going begging for a claimant.

Customs Patrol Chief Eleuterio Adevoso said he'd like to find the owner. There's a little matter of customs duties.

The package came in on a Cathay Pacific airlines plane May 25.

MANSFIELD GRAIN

The following prices are being paid to farmers by Honnezger-Hanley Mills, Inc. and Lantz Milling Co.
Wheat No. 2 red $2.20.
Corn No. 2 yellow $2.10.
Oats No. 2, 32 pounds $1.05.

OPENS CONVENTION — Republican national convention at Philadelphia June 21 will be opened by Virginia MacWatters, Philadelphia coloratura, selected as "Star Spangled Banner" soloist. It will be her first major performance as singer in her own home town. (International.)

Wheat Leads Grain Dump

CHICAGO — (AP) — Wheat led the grain lower Saturday following overnight House action in cutting $1,000,000,000 from the global aid bill. Rains in the Northwest spring wheat belt and expansion of the new harvest were other factors depressing the bread ceral.

Feed grains gave a better performance than wheat. Corn held up rather well most of the day, although losing ground toward the close. Oats ended mixed. A good demand for the cash article helped this cereal despite surrounding weakness.

Wheat closed ⅝-1⅛ lower, July $2.30-$2.30¼, corn was unchanged to ⅞ lower, June $2.16¼-$2.16, oats were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, July 92⅛-¼, and soybeans were ¼ lower to 2 cents higher, July $4.16.

Grain men said a cut in foreign aid appropriations would influence wheat most as this grain has been the mainstay of the grain export program.

Tiffin Orders Cafe Clean-Up

TIFFIN — (AP) — The Tiffin board of health Saturday adopted regulations licensing restaurants.

The regulations, effective Sept. 1, include a requirement that restaurant employes attend board-supervised health and sanitation classes.

Sacks Catch Fire

One engine from Central station was called out at 7:35 p. m. yesterday to extinguish a fire in a pile of paper sacks in front of Gerstenfeld's, 15 North Main street. Firemen said the blaze was started when a lit cigarette was tossed into the pile of papers at the curb.

'Wife for Sale' Divorcee To Interview Florida Man

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y. —(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, 28-year-old hat check girl who is seeking a husband with $10,000, said Saturday she will fly to Florida Monday to interview an applicant.

Mrs. Lawlor said her "main interest" now is a man she identified as Dan Wicker, proprietor of "Danny's Musical Bar" at Daytona Beach, Fla.

She said Wicker, 33, divorced and father of one child, made airplane reservations for her trip after a telephone conversation.

She said she would spend three or four days in Daytona Beach and "if it turns out the way we plan" would return here briefly before rejoining Wicker in Florida.

"He has a wonderful personality," she said. "I'm very thrilled about it and he feels the same way from what I heard over the 'phone.'

She said Wicker told her he already had given her name to his yacht and is selling "Dorothy Lawlor" cocktails at his bar—for $1.75 each.

Mrs. Lawlor, a divorcee with two children, has received numerous offers of marriage since the Hempstead, Newsday published her "Wife For Sale" offer two weeks ago.

Investigator Gets Unexpected Task

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — A woman investigator in the police juvenile aid division got an unexpected assignment in homework Saturday.

She was at the station when police brought in four boys and three girls, ages 11 to 16, found swimming in Fall creek—very much against the rules.

One was the investigator's 14-year-old son.

Joins Father In Business Here

After graduation from Miami university, Monday, with the degree of bachelor of science, David L. McGinty will return to Mansfield to enter business with his father, LeRoy McGinty, owner of the J. K. Johnston Monument works.

A graduate of Mansfield Senior High school, the younger McGinty served four and a half years in the Army, with 18 months overseas in the Pacific area. He is married and has a daughter, Leslie. The family will reside at 170 Vennum avenue.

Attending the baccalaureate and commencement at Miami today and tomorrow will be his parents and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Art.

PUMP STOLEN

Art Fletcher of the R. O. Darling company, reported to police yesterday that a $240 pump and motor from the construction site on East Fifth street at the Westinghouse plant had been stolen.

He was in court for failure to keep up support payments. Ten dollars of the sum will go to make up $770 in arrears and $20 for current support. Brumm was put on probation for two years.

A deed granting 25.3 acres at the airport, to the State of Ohio by the City of Mansfield was filed yesterday in the county recorder's office.

The land, which is in both Madison and Franklin townships, will be used by the 164th Fighter Squadron, Air National Guard, as a base for operations.

Planned are hangars, an operations office, a motor repair center and other buildings to cost approximately $640,000.

Garbage Dumpers Annoying; Violator Fined $10, Costs

Indiscriminate dumping of garbage and rubbish has proved an increasing annoyance to sheriff's deputies.

Clayton Parker, 41 Orchard street, pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to dumping garbage and rubbish in a ditch alongside South Trimble road Thursday night. He was fined $10 and costs.

Parker was charged under a regulation of the Richland County Board of Health, which prohibits dumping of garbage, rubbish or waste on a road, creek, or on the ground of any property.

The regulation provides for a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or both on conviction.

Parker was apprehended by Deputy Sheriff Norman M. Smaltz.

Deputies said they have been called out numerous times, but after finding the violators, property owners refuse to prosecute so long as the garbage was cleaned up.

Smaltz said the sheriff's office will press its investigations of garbage dumping violations and violators prosecuted.

'Y' Cycle Club Meeting Set

The first meeting of the 'Y' Century Cycle club will be held Thursday at 9 a. m. at the Carpenter school grounds, Maurice W. Taylor 'Y' executive secretary, said yesterday.

Registrations will be taken at that time, Taylor said, but boys 12 years old or more can register at the YMCA any time this week.

Boys who gather at Carpenter school next Thursday are expected to have their bicycles in good shape, Taylor said. They will be checked further for entrance into the club. Following the Carpenter school meeting, the boys will join in a swim at the 'Y.'

Taylor said this is the third such club he has helped to organize. The other two were at St. Louis and Hamilton and they are both still functioning successfully.

2 New Bridges Nearly Ready

The new Hull road bridge will be opened to traffic Tuesday and the new Trimble road bridge will be opened June 14, County Engineer Walter E Rusk announced Saturday.

Rusk said pilings are lacking, and as a result, the road approaches on either side have not been filled in completely. That will be done as soon as the pilings arrive.

The new timber bridge was built by the Purdy Construction company at a cost of $2,300. Materials were furnished by the county.

The Trimble road bridge, south of Arlington field, was built of timber and steel by the Purdy company.

A blue taper represented the spirit of scouting, three red tapers stood for the three parts of the Scout oath and 12 white tapers represented the 12 Scout laws.

Robert O. Hartmann made the first class awards to Eldon Remy and Harold Leiendecker, both of Mansfield, and Don Hurrell and Fred McLaughlin, both of Lexington.

Second class awards were made by Acting Warden C. E Wilmoth, Scoutmaster of Troop 18, to Courtney Bourns, Fred Moritz Cornelius Robinson, Tom Wehinger, Randy Herman, Ralph Frazier, Darryl Noel, Ronald Motter, Howard Potter and David McBride, all of Mansfield, and Jimmy Scarborough, Bobby Kordish, Donald Danals and Leroy Pittman, all of Ontario.

And Harvests Money

New York's Garden Practices Diversity

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK—(AP)—The money-making secret of world famous Madison Square Garden is known to every farmer. It is crop diversification.

The smart general farmer plants a variety of seeds. He doesn't put all of his eggs in one basket. One crop failure doesn't ruin his harvest

The garden, too, plants a lot of different seeds, like the circus and rodeo and boxing and basketball.

But all the garden harvests is money—a lot of money—more money than any other sporting enterprise in the world—$41,151,584 in gross income in the last ten years.

That secret is very simple, once you know it, but it took an ex-soldier, John Reed Kilpatrick, to discover it at the bottom of the depression in 1933.

But let's fit in the rest of the picture. Another, newer $25,000,000 Madison Square Garden is being planned for completion about 1950 or 1951 at Columbus Circle near the southwest corner of Central park

It will be the descendant of an original garden that grew out of a graveyard laid out in 1794 where Madison Square now is located in mid-town Manhattan.

BACKERS WERE WEALTHY

The name Madison Square Garden was given the building there in 1879 and built its reputation with the horse show. Wealthy New York families—including the Morgans and Vanderbilts—were interested in having a better home for their horse shows. With their money, and money attracted to the investment, they built the "new" Madison Square Garden for $3,000,000, "a building lighted in every part by electricity."

It was the seventh wonder of its day. More than 17,000 persons came to the mid-summer opening night in 1890 to hear an Edward Strauss orchestra concert and see two grand ballets.

Politiics has never flavored the Garden's career. Just as the first Garden became identified with old P. T. Barnum, so the colorful Tex Rickard became the leading light of the "new" Garden at Madison Square.

GENERAL TAKES OVER

That cigar-chewing, fast talking fight promoter—who had grossed $250,000 on the Jess Willard-Frank Moran fight in the Garden in 1916—became the sparkplug for the present Madison Square Garden, built in 1925 several miles north of Madison Square on Eighth avenue between 49th and 50th streets.

In the fiscal year 1933-34, there was a $59,000 deficit. That was the year John Reed Kilpatrick took over as president. He started at the financial bottom, introduced crop diversification at the Garden and watched the profits bloom.

Everybody calls him "General." In his 15 years at the Garden, he has ruled his domain almost anonymously but with sure efficiency. The big genial General has a comparatively small staff of 100 office employes, 300 ushers, ticket takers and special police, 120 building and maintenance men, and 80 concessionaires.

"My T.O. is very simple," said the General in an interview 'It all comes right into this sixth floor office. There is a lot of show business in the Garden, and in the show business every star wants to do business with the top men only. So does everybody else."

Rodeo, the leading money-maker, brings in only 15 per cent of the gross, hockey does 12 per cent, indoor and outdoor boxing gets another 12 per cent, the circus accounts for 10 per cent, concessions (hot dogs, beer and things) do another 10 per cent, and the remaining 30 per cent is split doens of ways among all the minor attractions.

Incidentally, the gross or net profit figures don't give an accurate indication of the total number of dollars pushed through the windows of the box office for admissions Many of the attractions are private organizations renting the Garden and handling their own ticket sales

'Dev' Meets Soldier Who Caught Him

MELBOURNE, Australia —(AP)—When Eamon De Valera, former Eire premier, visited here recently, he met the soldier who captured him 30 years ago. William Carruthers is now a Melbourne masseur, but was in the British Army when De Valera was an Irish rebel.

"You've changed, Mr. De Valera, since that far away day when I arrested you in the name of the king," Carruthers said.

"I've been waiting 30 years to hear the true story of how you found me," De Valera said. Carruthers explained that his company searched house after house, acting on information that the leader was in a particular area. He said, "Dev wasn't the monster we had imagined. He came along without a murmur."

De Valera, smiling, explained he had been held only three days. But he insisted that if "that back gate had not been locked and if I had known the topography of Dublin you never would have caught me."

House Tariff Bill Opposed

—Former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton asserts that the House-passed tariff bill would "scuttle the whole reciprocal trade program.

Clayton, now a special adviser to Secretary Marshall, appeared before the Senate finance committee to oppose the House bill, which would set up a "congressional veto" on tariff cuts.

His attack was disputed by Sen. Millikin, committee chairman, who said·

"No one has yet told us just how the House bill would kill the program, including the very fine witness we have this morning."

Clayton insisted that under the House bill "it would be impossible to make agreements of any significance—in fact, there is reasonable doubt as to whether any agreements could be made at all."

Scout Awards Court Scheduled for Monday

A court of awards for Girl Scouts will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Camp Niniwan, Girl Scout officials announced.

Awards will be given to 36 girls for swimming and lifesaving courses. In addition, Gerald Coron, head of the water safety and first aid program at the Red Cross, will show pictures pertaining to swimming and water safety and will talk to the girls on the program planned for this summer.

Eagles Install Officers

BUCYRUS—R. F. Hauser was installed Wednesday night as president of Bucyrus Aerie No. 501, Fraternal Order of Eagles, succeeding Donald Mason as head of the local lodge. A. G Flickinger, past president, installed the new officers.

Enterprising Merchants Greet Newcomers

The Welcome Wagon's Rolling Again In Mansfield

The Welcome Wagon is rolling again

Under the sponsorship of a group of enterprising Mansfield merchants, the Welcome Wagon greets new residents, recently-moved families, engaged girls and the mothers of new babies.

The greeting not only is a friendly gesture, but it's accompanied by gifts, donated by the participating merchants. The gifts come in a gaily-decorated basket.

The response to the present, according to Mrs. Ted Banks, 499 Davey avenue, and Mrs. Fred W. Forkner, 572 West Third street, who operate the Welcome Wagon, is an "Oh!" of surprise and pleasure.

"Everyone's always very pleased when we present the basket," Mrs. Banks said "We try to give presents suitable to the occasion and of course we want to be really friendly."

The service was resumed this spring after being temporarily stopped during the war. It is part of a nationwide network, but is operated by local hostesses, as Mrs. Banks and Mrs. Forkner term themselves, and local merchants finance the project.

TAKE TRAINING COURSE

Before the Mansfield women started operations they took a two-week training course in New York on the fine points of greeting strangers and giving away free presents—the latter being relatively easy.

Typical call was that made recently on Mrs. R. C Tisch, 184 Bennet street, formerly of Waukesha, Wis. Mrs Tisch, whose husmand is manager of the heating department of the Hoffman company, Mansfield plumbers, was welcomed as a new Mansfield resident by Mrs. Forkner.

Mrs. Forkner presented to Mrs. Tisch a heavily-loaded gift basket containing a score of useful articles such as food, furniture polish, playing cards and canned goods.

"I think it's a wonderful idea," Mrs. Tisch said "It makes one feel more at home in a strange, new town to be welcomed by such a group."

Mrs. Banks and Mrs. Forkner divide their duties Mrs. Banks greets engaged girls and mothers of new babies while Mrs. Forkner welcomes new residents and Mansfielders moving to new addresses.

The pair seek to contact their "cutomers" as soon as possible. Mrs. Banks said their sources of information were "secret," but that they were informed of new babies, new residents, prospective brides and movings within town "very quickly."

"Sometimes the moving truck moves out and I move in," Mrs. Forkner said "But in any case we like to call on people within 48 hours. And usually, we do"

The Harrison twins, Marjorie and Marguerite, of 287 Superior street, recently were the recipients of baskets of gifts from Mrs. Banks. The twins will be married June 20 to two Ohio state university students in a double ceremony

"We just couldn't believe it when Mrs. Banks brought the gifts," they said "At first we thought someone was kidding It's really a wonderful idea and it certainly creates good will."

Measles Remain At High Level

Measles cases continued at a high level in the city last month, according to the report on contagious diseases released yesterday by the city board of health.

There were 263 cases of regular measles reported during May and one case of German measles. So far this year there have been 1,180 cases of regular measles and 20 cases of German measles reported.

But Malik Smiles and Listens

Kremlin's New Envoy Just Isn't Talking

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— The Kremlin's new envoy to the United Nations is looking and listening now. He isn't talking yet.

Jakob A. Malik, husky, sandy-haired Russian who will sit at U. N. meetings while Andrei A. Gromyko takes a vacation, says he is not ready to talk.

But he isn't missing a trick while he learns the U. N. ropes from Gromyko

Obviously, he is interested in the American presidential race. He stops smiling when politics is mentioned; he listens very carefully when U. N. veterans here weigh the chances of Mr. Truman, Henry Wallace, Harold Stassen, Governor Thomas E. Dewey and others.

Malik was puzzled about both party conventions being in Philadelphia. He seemed to understand, however, when a quick burst of Russian from a member of the delegation explained that there is no particular significance to that American custom.

He also became interested deeply when the talk veered to the probable outcome of the presidential race in the south, but as usual he kept his opinions to himself.

This is his first trip to the United States He has not been out of New York since his arrival.

Malik has been something of a puzzle to fellow delegates and the newspaper corps since he showed up at a security council session on Palestine May 22. He laughs loudly and easily—quite in contrast to the sober Gromyko—and shakes hands readily. But he just won't say a word that anyone can latch onto for some substantial meaning.

As one observer said, if he is the harbinger of Russia's peace offensive, he is carefully hiding his wings.

All Russians feel that their private lives are to be kept private; it is of small concern when they were born or where.

So it is with Malik. Gromyko's aides have no biographical material on him. They make it plain they are not asking him. To all requests for the conventional biographical material familiar to the United States the Russian delegation said:

"You ask Mr. Malik."

Malik is married—but Mrs. Malik did not come with him.

JAKOB A. MALIK

Whether she wil come is another question on which he is not talking.

He sits behind Gromkyo at the security council table. He listens closely when a delegate is speaking but when a translation is on he puts on horn-rimmed glasses and reads a magazine or makes notes.

Malik is bigger physically than Gromyko. He is thick through the middle but not paunchy. His hair has receded slightly from the temples but he combs it back straight and he is far from bald.

He likes colored shirts. He mixes easily in the lounge and has lost no time making friends with his colleagues and U. N. aides.

One employe in the delegates' lounge said he feels he knows Malik better in one week than he does Gromyko after two years.

As for the conventional biographical material, it is known that Malik became counsellor to the Soviet embassy in Tokyo in 1939 and ambassador there on May 20, 1942. He served in Tokyo throughout the war, delivering Russia's declaration of war on Japan to the Japanese and receiving Tokyo's surrender offer shortly afterwards. He was in Tokyo when General Douglas MacArthur came in and stayed on about a month.

He was appointed deputy minister to foreign affairs on Aug. 24, 1946

He has worked in the foreign ministry since leaving Tokyo, except for one term in 1946 as political adviser to the Soviet delegate on the allied control council in Tokyo.

He succeeded S. A. Lozovsky as deputy foreign minister for Far Eastern affairs on Aug. 24, 1946. He has received the order of Lenin twice, in 1944 and 1945.

Rail Official Leaves City

Harry Lodge jr., assistant Pennsylvania railroad trainmaster in Mansfield, has been promoted to the position of trainmsater of the Logansport, Ind., division.

Lodge came to Mansfield in May, 1946. He entered the Pennsylvania service in March, 1917, at Baltimore, Md., where he served as assistant yardmaster of the Baltimore division. He later served as yardmaster of the Philadelphia division.

Since then he has been trainmaster of the Cleveland division of the railroad, the Columbus division and the Eastern division, at Mansfield.

Lodge will be succeeded by George F. Prie jr., now with the New York division. Prie has been with the Pennsylvania railroad for 26 years.

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Why Bar Wallace From Ohio Ballots?

RULING by Secretary of State Hummel that the Wallace presidential candidacy is to be barred from the Ohio ballots next November should by all means be passed along to the state supreme court for decision, as the potentialities of such a dictatorial action are too great to be ignored.

As viewed from the sidelines it would appear that a showing of voting strength—or weakness—of Wallaceites would be highly illuminating, while refusal to permit such a showing could be interpreted as interfering with the rights of minorities to express themselves in a democratic way or evidencing fear.

However much the Wallace candidacy may be tainted with communism and other phases of radicalism, the arbitrary ruling by the secretary of state seems ill advised and should at least be subjected to Ohio supreme court scrutiny.

Russia's 'Anti-Western' Attitude

AFTER 14 months in Russia, an American correspondent, Alexander Kendrick, writing in Collier's, reports that there is a growing distrust of foreigners in the U.S.S.R. Stalin is appearing less and less in public. His role is being increasingly carried by Molotov and Zhadanov, leader of the Communist party, both of whom are essentially anti-western.

It is discouraging to have this long-time resident in Russia conclude that the gulf between East and West, as far as the Soviets are concerned, is widening. Nevertheless such information should not discourage American effort to push aside the Iron Curtain. If Russia persists in an attempt to keep out information and news about the United States, it does not follow that the United States should cease trying to understand Russia.

More Americans studying Russian history, culture and language help to crack the wall between the two countries. This know-Russia technique should begin among youngsters in school and be extended to top American officials. The idea is not "fight Russia," but "understand Russia," Molotov and Zhadanov to the contrary. Effort also should be strengthened to push understanding of the United States among Russians.

Many Good Books for Children

FOR A long time parents, librarians, pastors and teachers have been concerned about the increasing number of "unfunny" comic books, whose subject matter may include murder, robbery and mayhem. Recently the sale of certain books classified as offensive has been banned by several cities, including Indianapolis, Detroit and Hillsdale, Mich. Civic leaders in Centralia, Wash., appealed to publishers of such books to raise the tone of their contents.

Some so-called comic books may perhaps be defended. But many child experts believe that a great proportion of this type of publication tends to dull children's taste and desire for sound reading matter. Much juvenile crime is being laid to the ideas inculcated by such books.

The best way to cure the bad is by planting taste for the good. Never has there been an age when such excellent books for children were published as now, both in content and illustration. It is lamentable that parents should allow cheap so-called "comic" books to divert small readers from enjoying the really delightful reading matter now awaiting them in bookstore and library.

Behavior of G. I. Students Praised

OBSERVERS in Paris declare that the 250 ex-servicemen who are making their homes there while they study under the "G.I. Bill of Rights" are building up a fine reputation for themselves.

One professor claims that they are the most punctual and the best disciplined of the great university's foreign students. They are studying French civilization, literature, history and philosophy, and are expected to speak and understand French. Some are housed in private homes, while others live in dormitories.

Their small income gives the Americans little leeway for frivolity, but they are entirely free from supervision outside school hours. They are hospitably treated by the French, and are often entertained in the homes.

American veterans at the Sorbonne are behaving as they do at the colleges and universities in the United States. They have lost too much time already to be willing to waste any now. They are glad to have this opportunity to complete their formal education and bend all their energies in that direction. In keeping up their reputation at the Sorbonne they are making friends for themselves and for their country.

Uniform World History Proposed

THERE is food for thought in the proposal that school children in all countries of the world should learn world history from the same textbooks. The idea was presented to a recent World Citizens Conference at Woodstock, Ill., by Prof. Charles W. Bishop of Carleton college, Ontario.

Probably no subject of study is so widely and extensively distorted for nationalistic purposes as is history. Prof. Bishop cited as an example differences in viewpoint on the War of 1812 between United States and Canadian texts. Such differences become innumerable when all the various countries and peoples are considered.

Historic misunderstandings and antagonisms may be perpetuated in teaching history from texts written with a nationalistic slant. International fears and distrusts also may be part of the harvest, and the "super-race" idea thrives on specially prepared history books.

Many obstacles would lie in the path of a universal history text. In this country acceptance by the federal government of a world text would be only the beginning. Approval of states and in most states of individual school districts also would be needed, before use of the text could become an accomplished fact.

"How slight, of all that human hearts endure, the part that kings or laws can make, or cure," says a poet. But fortunately most people go right on hoping.

According to a current magazine, "the $5,000 house is a challenge"—but you'll find plenty of them priced at around $15,000.

A Voice From the Country

Churchill Seen As 'Century's Greatest'

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

SLOWLY, as one document and one memoir after another takes its place in history, the important figures of the latest twenty-five years in the troubled record of our times are beginning to emerge in something resembling a final historical valuation. Of all the lot the Roosevelts, the Stalins, the Hitlers, the Mussolinis, the Eisenhowers, the Hulls, the Reynauds, the Chamberlains, and countless others — one figure emerges as incontestably the great man of our century. He is half English, half American and to an almost complete degree he represents, in himself and in his actions, all that is fine in the incontestable greatness and superiority of Anglo-Saxon and French traditions of politics and civilization. His name is Winston Churchill

BROMFIELD

Each secret record, each memoir of a diplomatic conversation or negotiation, each personal record reveals more and more clearly the integrity, the vision, the devotion, not only to his own nation but to the greater cause of humanity and civilization, each document reveals the sincerity and the tough tenacity and uprightness of a man who stuck to his position no matter how great the cost when he believed he was right.

Not the least important factor in his greatness is the vision which other men lacked, a vision which a hundred times in both great and small things has been justified by history.

By his side most of the other British figures of his time appear insignificant. In all his long political career with its dramatic ups and downs, there was never any manifestation of the stupid smugness of Chamberlain, the sniveling compromise and conniving of a John Simon or a Samuel Hoare, never any cheap demagogic vote-buying appeal, setting class against class never any of the shiftiness and compromise of the slick professional politician.

* * *

"Wealth" Is Genuine.

WINSTON CHURCHILL was born a rich man, not in the sense of money, for all his life he has been comparatively poor and at times has lived on the verge of actual poverty, but in the genuine wealth by which men live and contribute to civilization and the welfare of their fellow beings.

He has not only a brilliant mind but a profound one, a mind which has always understood the deeper meanings of the tragic-comic history of mankind. He is one of the great writers and orators of all time and he had the character and integrity to become the leader of a nation and indeed a whole world in one of the bitterest crises of history.

He has always been outspoken, frank and loyal, not only to his own beliefs but to the basic principles of honor, justice and dignity. He is a very great historian as his history of the First World War and the first volume of his history of the Second World War amply prove. In both books there is tolerance, wit, understanding statesmanship, and some of the finest English prose ever written.

The fact that he was greatly blessed by the gods is itself less important than the fact that he respected those gifts and used them well.

Other men have been born with similar gifts—Alcibiades and "the Gracchi" and in our own time Franklin D. Roosevelt. The use of such gifts is morally more important than their existence. Churchill has never abused or compromised them.

It cannot be denied that the mere existence of those gifts were hateful to less honorable and talented men, who secretly recognized his superiority but openly abused him through envy, the lowest of human vices.

Men of such abundant gifts as his cannot but arouse envy and hatred from ambitious mediocrity. But his eternal rightness, his vision and his integrity have constantly placed him beyond the attack of petty men, frequently confounded them and often enough have rendered them ridiculous in the light of history.

He has always been a civilized man and a democrat in the truest sense who never saw any virtue in the mere fact of mediocrity, shiftlessness, stupidity or weakness of character.

He never asserted any belief or virtue in the fact of commonplaceness nor glorified the masses merely because they were in the majority. He never preached any Common Man nonsense, yet like Jefferson and Lincoln before him, he respected greatly the ultimate soundness of the voice of the people and has constantly abhorred and fought more than any living man the threat of dictatorship whether by an individual, a bureaucracy or an oligarchy.

Throughout his life he has asserted and practiced the belief that true democracy, as represented by the will of the people, is the highest form of government yet developed by the human race.

Even while he still lives that belief is being vindicated by the increasing failure of socialist bureaucracies or communist minority dictatorships to provide anything but a low moral attitude, low living standards and abridgement or complete suppression of human rights, liberty and dignity.

* * *

Gaining In Stature.

ABOVE the figures which occupied the spotlight in the history of at least two generations, he emerges great and triumphant. Hitler was no more than Attila the Hun. Mussolini was a clown and a fool Stalin represents little more or less than the counterpart of Genghis Kahn, an Asiatic who built monuments of human skulls to mark his victories.

It is inevitable that one should mention Franklin D. Roosevelt, a man almost as gifted by the gods as Churchill himself.

But in Roosevelt there was something lacking or something added which prevented or will prevent history from giving him the same stature as Churchill. Was it boundless ambition or lack of integrity, an excessive liking for outsmarting less clever people, a fundamental insincerity or a secret contempt for the people which has lain hidden in the heart of every demagogue. History, I think is beginning to reveal the answer.

One thing is remarkable in the inevitable comparison of these two gifted men. Each book, each memoir, each document which appears adds to the stature of Winston Churchill.

Each one that appears, even though written by Frances Perkins, by Morganthau, by Hull, by Stimson and by others believed to have been his most ardent admirers, manages somehow to diminish the claims of Franklin D. Roosevelt to an equal pedestal in history.

How to Have Friends

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU'RE lonely . . . you "haven't a way with folks" . . . you're always sitting on the outside, looking in. If only you had the knack of popularity!

I'm thinking of an incident that happened way-back-when in Chicago—Franklin Roosevelt's first nomination. I'd been sitting in the press box for 24 scorching hours while the boys wrangled it out in the back room. Contrary to popular tradition, columnists don't raise whoopee when a big story is on. Mostly they just sit and wait.

So I was waiting, nibbling at a sandwich while I cussed my luck. I was hot and mussed and tired. I looked like the tail of a twister going east. And felt worse.

The corridor was crowded with people. But I wasn't noticing them. I was fed up with people . . . ready to snarl if anyone spoke to me. And suddenly, one did.

Someone with a western twang to his voice and an impudent grab to his friendly fist seized my towsled hair and pulled. Mad? Partner, I spurted flame! In a split second I whirled—

And looked up into the laughing face of Will Rogers.

There stood the man of whom I had written for years and whom all America loved—yet I had never met him. And no more irritating meeting could heve been devised. Yet my anger melted like a spring thaw at his first smile.

Did you ever meet Will Rogers? If so, the memory is unforgettable as is mine. He wasn't handsome. He wasn't glamorous. He used none of the little publicity tricks which great stars so often use. But he was the kindliest man that ever wore shoe leather, and there was no secret about his kindliness. He was kind to everyone because he wanted kindliness himself.

Once he said, "I never met anybody I couldn't like." Of course he must have met thousands whom the rest of us would cordially detest. But Will Rogers made it his business not to detest people . . . not to judge them, not to approach them with suspicion or anger.

He moved among every variety of human beings- oily crooks and smooth ruffians and spineless ne'er-do-wells. But his smile was always the same. It was the smile of a child who loves and trusts everyone and desires love and trust in return.

You did not have to push down any walls when you met Will Rogers. There were no walls to push. He never let any start.

* * *

Secret of Charm.

I DOUBT if there is a man or woman in America who did not mourn when Will Rogers died. We knew we had lost something indescribably rare and precious, something that we needed as we needed our own breath.

What was the secret of Will Rogers? What was the secret of his indescribable charm? Why did everyone love him? Why was no heart ever barred to him?

I think he expressed it all when he said, "I never met anybody I couldn't like." He said it casually. Liking people had become as natural as laughter to him.

In some ways he was a shy man and it disturbed him to analyze himself. Yet he possessed the power that most of us would give our fortunes to possess — the power of making friends.

People liked Will Rogers because he liked them. There's no mystery to that. Just try it for yourself and see. It always works. You never need to be lonely again if you once reach beyond the other fellow's shell, beneath his loneliness and fear and weariness, down to his tired heart. If you can do that you will always have friends.

It Says Here:

—By KEN WOODMAN

MUCH THOUGHT was given last week to an original news treatment of President Truman's seven-minute stop in Crestline. The fact that the chief executive was scheduled to wave his hand at the train window did not seem to offer any sensational possibilities.

* * *

There was general agreement that there have been too many pictures of politicians kissing babies, so it was finally agreed that the photographer should get a shot of a baby kissing Mr. Truman. But the secret service refused to cooperate. The baby had no comment.

* * *

It all turned out better than expected anyway, with the President appearing on the rear platform for a wave at Mansfield and a brief talk at Crestline. The talk isn't likely to make history. But the weather was perfect.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Clark Probing Record of Two Senators

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—If you notice certain senators moving to curtail the justice department's appropriations, here is the reason why. Attorney General Tom Clark has been quietly probing the activities of two senators — Owen Brewster, Maine Republican, and Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat. When Senator Ferguson, Michigan Republican, with a great record for uncovering graft in Detroit, ducked the job of investigating his own colleagues, Tom Clark got busy.

PEARSON

Brewster has been shown up as the bosom pal of Pan American Airways, has lobbied brazenly for them, has accepted free Pan American airplane rides all over the map (Senators are forbidden by law to accept free railroad rides), yet Senator Ferguson refused to probe his fellow Republican.

Thomas of Oklahoma has also been manipulating commodity-market prices, finally admitted he has been speculating—after lying about it for two years—and keeps himself surrounded by a queer assortment of lobbyists, racketeers and an ex-convict.

However, the great investigator from Michigan, Senator Ferguson, has not dared to delve into the operation of his colleague from Oklahoma.

Attorney General Clark, on the other hand, hired a young New York lawyer, Irving Kauffman, who, despite acute attacks of longweekenditis, has laboriously managed to unravel part of the manifold operations of Senator Thomas, and has taken a polite peek at the lobbying of Senator Brewster.

The bill of complaint lodged against Ralph Moore, Texas lobbying friend of Senator Thomas, is the first tangible justice department move resulting from this probe.

* * *

Air Is Badly Needed.

ACTUALLY, this has only scratched the surface. Thomas's network of speculating friends includes the notorious Mickey Rosner, first known to the police in the Lucky Luciano case; Marty Heflin, brother of movie actor Van Heflin; Tom Linder, the speculating agricultural commissioner of Georgia; Dyke Cullum, the Texas lobbyist; J. E. McDonald, agricultural commissioner of Texas, and Bob Harriss, the Wall Street operator who handled Father Coughlin's silver purchases and also advised Senator Thomas on his silver speculation.

Whether these gentlemen violated any law remains to be seen. Certainly, by using speeches and resolutions of a United States senator to influence the commodity market, they violated a lot of business ethics, and a report on their operations not only should be aired, but should be sent to the Chicago board of trade and the Securities and Exchange Commission for proper action.

* * *

Dark-Horse Halleck.

ONE dark horse you don't hear much about, but who is champing at the bit waiting for Philadelphia is likable, go-getting Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana. The ambitious House majority leader has been holding secret conferences and lining up political support almost alongside his friend, dark-horse Speaker Martin—though Joe doesn't know too much about it.

The place where Halleck holds his political conclaves is a private cocktail room in a corner of the Capitol. Officially this hideaway is listed as a "storeroom." Privately it is called the "clinic."

One frequent and significant visitor at the "clinic" has been Joe Pew of the Sun Oil company, the Sun Shipbuilding company, owner of various farm publications and a power in Pennsylvania politics. Other visitors to Halleck's clinic are lobbyists for the National Association of Manufacturers who drop in for a drink and some private advice as to how their dark horse should vote on important issues.

Two years ago Charlie Halleck was a relatively obscure congressman of moderate means who lived quite modestly.

But since he became majority leader 18 months ago, Charlie drives the most expensive Cadillac on Capitol Hill—a super, sleek convertible which attracts sightseers outside the House of Representatives.

Mrs. Halleck also drives a de luxe Cadillac—quite a motor pool for a $15,000-a-year congressman with a small family. (The Cadillacs are not supplied by the government.)

A struggling attorney in Rensselaer, Indiana, before he came to Congress, Charlie has never been one to let the grass grow under his feet. And his voting record shows that he either thinks eye-to-eye or has gone down the line 100 per cent for the Manufacturers Association friends who drop in at his clinic.

Note—One of the boys quietly backing Halleck for President is Jim Kemper, national GOP treasurer, a leading Midwest isolationist and head of a chain of big insurance companies. Other Halleck supporters are Jacob France, national committeeman from Maryland, and Tom Coleman, prominent Wisconsin Republican.

Assignment: America

He Hadn't Even Read It!

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—Not long ago, a legislative measure of considerable importance, one way or the other, to these United States was passed by the House of Representatives by a sizeable majority.

Several evenings after its passing, a singularly honest member of Congress who voted for the bill sat discussing various and sundry current affairs with a couple of newsmen.

One of them mentioned the bill and asked the congressman if he didn't think certain phases of it were dangerous and perhaps even unconstitutional.

"I don't know," replied the congressman. "To tell you the truth, I know very little about the bill myself. I haven't read it—haven't had time to—and doubt if I'll get around to it before adjournment. For that matter, most of the boys who voted for it hadn't read it either."

The statement, as such, came as no particular shock to the two newsmen who long since had realized that many a measure becomes law without benefit of perusal by the very men who make it so. Nevertheless, it was a tribute to the congressman's honesty that he would risk ridicule in the future by the newsmen by admitting the truth—even though they were bound by their word not to use his name in reporting such an admission.

* * *

Yes, "There's a Reason."

AT THE risk of seeming naive, however, one of the reporters asked him just why he, who usually was pretty conscientious about such things, happened to vote for the measure. His answer was prompt.

"The main reason, of course, was that the men whose opinions I respect and usually concur in approved the bill," he said. "But there also, in this case, was the additional reason that the bill was opposed by people with whom I can not afford to be associated."

Pressed for details, he answered with complete candor.

"Back in my district, the Wallace-for-President crowd was fighting the bill. They sent me a lot of messages, asking me to vote against it. Some of them came to see me about it. Others told the people and the papers back home that they were against the bill. Now, the way most of my constituents back home feel, if I were to vote the way that crowd is publicly asking me to vote, I might just as well not run for re-election," he said.

All of which underscores the full extent to which lobbying has developed in the nation during the past year, despite the lobby registration law which last session was hailed (and not unjustly) as one of the major congressional reforms.

* * *

Effective, But In Reverse.

CERTAINLY the foregoing incident indicates how lobbying has even reached the point where it now operates effectively in reverse!

Currently, there are at least two registered and highly-paid lobbyists working in Washington for every single member of the Senate and House of Representatives. Every "registered" lobbyist serves, quite legally in most cases, as an effective cover-up for from half a dozen to half a hundred others who serve the same purpose but who are relieved of the necessity of registering since they technically are employed by the one individual who is registered.

Even more important, such "registered" lobbyists often merely provide errand-boy fronts for the really powerful, and often highly-placed individuals and firms whose names should be known to properly evaluate the lobbying situation.

None of the foregoing information is particularly new to those who have been around the Capitol scene for some time. However, the increasing effectiveness of such lobbying rapidly is making the situation news in a cumulative sort of fashion.

And in an election year, it is becoming particularly pertinent to probe whether or not the real interests of the people are being served—for after all, much as it is criticized, lobbying does represent the constitutional right of the people to petition.

First Apartment

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

It is a bird's nest in the eaves,
This first small home, as brave as they
Who hear the sighing of the leaves,
And feel one with the fair June day.

To some these three small rooms might be
An ugly sight. The beaverboard,
Unpainted, is not fine to see.
The furniture could be restored.

The garish flowered linoleum
Stretches beneath their glad young feet.
Outside, the city buses hum.
It's not a fashionable street.

But always through their lives together,
They will remember this first place;
Outside the beckoning June weather,
Inside her happy morning face.

Whatever walls hold their tomorrow,
If poverty or riches come,
May these two be as free from sorrow
As they are in this first small home.

Four-Point Farm Plan Outlined

President Urges Immediate Action

he wants mean no great change in present national policy. He said they are "sound, practical steps."

HIS FOUR POINTS

Specifically, he recommended.

1 A "permanent system of flexible price supports" for farm products.

2. Vigorous support and fast expansion of the soil conservation system.

3. "Adequate" markets for farm products and better distribution to consumers.

4 Government help on such things as housing, roads, and electricity for all rural areas

In last month's farm message to congress, point 4 stressed protection and strengthening of cooperatives and a sound system of crop insurance.

Mr Truman said last night that co-ops are under heavy fire and "we must stand firm against these attacks."

On soil conservation, the President said that "I don't think we should be satisfied until every acre of farm land in the United States is being properly managed so that its fertility will be permanently maintained"

ASK PRICE SUPPORT

On price supports, he said that wartime legislation ending next December must be replaced.

"I believe," he said, "that the American farmer has the right to expect his government to prevent the prices of farm commodities from falling to ruinous levels"

The farmers, Mr. Truman said have earned real protection against a slump like the one that followed World War I Right now, he said, they are in the best financial position they have known

The President said this is due partly to "special factors" in post-war conditions. But he also credited what he called sound farm legislation adopted since the Democratic party came into power in 1932

Atom Age University Will Open

To Train Students In Atomic Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

BROOKHAVEN, N Y —(AP)— A new kind of university, the first of the atomic age, goes into action here this summer

This institution will train students in atomic science It also will do its own peacetime atomic research It will be a center where scientists of the northeastern United States can go to work out atomic problems

The institution is the Brookhaven National laboratory. Operations are under Associated Universities, Inc, a non-profit organization of nine leading eastern universities acting as agents for all educational institutions in the northeast.

The work is financed by the federal government, through the Atomic Energy commission This liaison between government and education is new—a result of the wartime union of science and government

The liaison is said to be necessary because the most interesting and important atomic research can be done only with aid of huge machines and other installations so large and so expensive that they are beyond the reach of privately endowed institutions

One of these machines will manufacture atoms Another will make cosmic rays There also is an atomic pile, moving toward completion, into which scientists can shot pneumatic tube packets of matter for transmutation studies

No military work is planned at Brookhaven The declared purposes are "not only to increase man's power to conquer disease and to produce the material necessities of life but to light the dark corners of the human mind wherein dwell fear and the threat of war"

Brookhaven's efforts in this field will be in close cooperation with nearby medical research centers. Atomic energy-like fire or heat always is dangerous, even in peacetime uses, and Brookhaven will help medical research people to find out how to use it.

If discoveries useful for national safety are made at Brookhaven, they will be kept secret But the major work will be unrestricted, in the time-honored scientific tradition that produced most of the great material discoveries of the past

Brookhaven is conceived by its founders, and by its director, Dr Philip M Morse as a place where the people of the United States can share in pioneering the atomic age It concentrates on the beneficial possibilities, for which there was no time in war.

400 SCIENTISTS

The Brooklyn staff will be about 400 scientists, plus more than a thousand technicians and other personnel. Brookhaven plans to assist the students with living problems and with getting jobs But taxpayers are not expected to pay all the expenses of this university. Visiting scientists can come here to use private grants with the atomic facilities and machines that may be nowhere else available.

Mansfield Area Tree Mover Practices Dentistry on Big Scale

TREE DOCTORS—In above photo, Kenny Funk (left foreground), of Funk Brothers Tree Service, Jeromesville, supervises the spraying of newly-trimmed trees at North Lake park. The spray guns are handled by Herbert Young, Jeromesville, R. D. 2, and Kenny's brother and partner, John. At right, a tree moving job in Central park attracts a number of sidewalk superintendents Herbert Young and Kenny Funk do the real work, however.

Arborists Also Trim Limbs, Spray

By BOB EDWARDS

Tree moving is something like pulling teeth on a king-sized scale If you operate as do the Funk Brothers Tree Service in Jeromesville and have the equipment to do the job you can pull an old 'wisdom tooth" type of tree from the ground in about a day of hard and steady labor

Fortunately tree moving and molar yanking differ when it comes to details—a happy circumstance The differing details being that you don t actually "pull" a tree First you dig a two or three foot deep trench around the tree, gradually cutting in toward the center

Then with an axe you cut — ouch! — you cut away the root system

At this point the job takes on certain dental aspects For forceps the Funk Brothers use a specially built tree mover which looks something like a reinforced horseshoe with the open ends resting on a sturdy truck bed

Through the center of the top of the 'horseshoe runs a cable from a powerful winch

YANK — AND IT'S OUT

For the extraction a chain is wrapped around the tree — which has been completely cut loose from the earth — the winch hook at the cable s end is attached to the chain, a b-i-i-i-g pull and it s out! Now that didn't hurt a bit, did it?

"The first question people seem to ask a tree mover," says Kenny Funk, partner in the tree service company with his brother, John," is 'What s the biggest tree you've ever moved?"

"I suppose the biggest job we ever handled was a tree in Ashland that was 11 inches in diameter and weighed 9½ tons," Funk goes on "It took three men a day and a half to do that job"

The hardest trees to move the Funk brothers will tell you, are hard maples The bark on these trees is soft and subject to sunburn — just like the painful burns you and I get — and called "sun scald' by the arborists

Funk advises against the moving of hickory trees and white oaks because of the long tap root these trees send deep into the ground On a large white oak, the tap root is four or five feet long

MANY TREE JOBS

As members of the National Arborists association and the National Shade Tree conference the Funk brothers are called upon to do many other tree jobs besides moving

The brothers also do cabling work bracing general trimming, cavity work, spraying, and topping of soft maples

"Our speciality is removing undesirable trees, which is pretty tough work '

One of the biggest difficulties in the tree business is obtaining proper workmen, according to Funk

"We train our own men and it calls for a special type of person who is often hard to find," Funk tells. "The men must like trees and working around them They've got to be strong, and they must not be afraid to climb. And, of course, they've got to be willing to work almost everyday outdoors

Men like that are hard to find"

All of the men now employed by Funk brothers are veterans of World War II

The most dangerous part of tree work is hot wire on a line clearance job but so far, exercising a great deal of care and with a certain amount of good fortune, none of Funk s men have ever been "burnt '

At this time of year a large part of the work done by the Funks is in nearby parks Trimming lower branches from trees at North Lake park last week Kenny Funk remarked You know, there s an old saying, He can t see the forest for the trees

"Well, in our business we fix it so you can see the trees the trees, the woods and the park too '

Britons Find Life's a Bit Easier Now

More Food, Fuel Brighten Austerity

LONDON —(AP)— The heavy burden of day to day living is easing a bit for Britain's John and Joan Bull

Life still is far from good. There's an immeasurable gap between present austerity and prewar plenty, between scarcity in Britain and abundance abroad.

However, in the grim balance of daily existence, tiny bright spots such as two more eggs a week and a replacement at last for that ten-year-old tea kettle carry many times their weight.

Meat rations remain at an all-time low The weekly shilling's worth (about 20 cents) stretches over two meals and its quality is poor Most families eat unrationed fish every other night

But this main course monotony is relieved by a wider variety of trimmings than at any time in the last two crisis-pinched years.

Coal bins are full Shopping lines aren t so long You even can buy a bottle of gin over the counter again

Thus by the same standards that set food and drink as Britain s two major conversational themes, things appear to be looking up

INCOME TAX CUT

There's a little more in the weekly paycheck now after lower bracket income tax cuts Gradual return of war-stifled free competition is pushing shoddy goods off the market

Good weather, good planning and the promise of American aid share the credit for other slight improvements in living standards.

Translated into terms of daily living, all this means more and better things to be bought They're easier to buy, too, though hiked luxury taxes inched up some prices

"Oranges and lemons when ever I want them, just think of it!" was how one housewife summed up her bettered lot.

In addition she's finding shops filled with French strawberries and cheeses, Canary island tomatoes and Canadian tomato juice—all unobtainable two years ago

House Group Gives OK to Farm Parity

Supports Pegged At 90 Per Cent

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House agriculture committee voted Saturday to hold the price supports of hogs, poultry and eggs at not less than 90 per cent of parity.

It approved an amendment to the general farm price support continuation legislation throwing out part of a previous formula that would have allowed the price pegs on these three farm products to drop as low as 60 per cent of parity.

"Parity" is a price intended to return to farmers an income carrying a purchasing power—in relation to other segments of the economy — comparable to some past favorable period for agriculture, usually 1909-14.

The legislation, continuing the farm price supports to June 30, 1950, comes to a vote in the House next week. As revised by the committee Saturday, it provides

1. Price supports at 90 per cent of parity for the six basic commodities—cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco rice and peanuts. These supports now are at 90 per cent with the exception of cotton which is at 92.5 per cent.

2. Also supports at not less than 90 per cent of parity for milk and milk products, hogs, poultry and eggs. These supports could run higher if the secretary of agriculture deems this necessary to bring out larger production.

MILK GETS FLOOR

Milk and milk products were assigned a support floor of not less than 90 per cent of parity when the agriculture committee first approved the bill April 16.

3. Supports ranging from 60 per cent of parity to the highest support level in force for 1948 for certain non-basic commodities, including dry beans and peas, soy beans, flaxseed, potatoes and other perishables. This would permit the secretary to reduce supports to prevent surpluses of these crops as well as to boost them when more production is needed.

4. Continuous supports on wool as now authorized in separate legislation.

The legislation also continues government authority to impose acreage restrictions and to set marketing quotas, but Chairman Hope (R-Kas) of the agriculture committee said that due to the huge demands for farm production there is little if any likelihood that marketing quotas will be invoked on any large scale in the next year and a half.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) said legislation continuing farm price supports is bound to pass before Congress adjourns June 19.

Without congressional action the supports on basic commodities would drop Dec. 31 to 52 to 75 per cent of parity, and those for other commodities would expire completely.

Car owners who are wasting money and not getting proper gas mileage due to over-rich mixtures will be pleased to learn of a Wisconsin inventor who has developed a very clever unit that helps save gasoline by "Vacu mating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits all cars, trucks, tractors. The manufacturers, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 7617--477C State St., Wauwatosa, Wis., are offering a Vacu-matic to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. They will gladly send full free particulars if you write them or just send your name and address on a penny post card today.—Adv.

SCHOLARSHIP ON WAY—

An airmail letter headed for California yesterday was carrying to John Kern, 1948 Senior High graduate, word that he had been awarded a $750 scholarship to the University of Chicago. John took an examination in Cleveland some weeks ago and left after graduation Wednesday for Pasadena, Calif., where his mother resides. Saturday, his grandmother, Mrs Mary N Kern, 269 Remy avenue, received the letter from Chicago notifying John of his acceptance. She promptly forwarded it by airmail. John won the Renssalaer medal for his high school work in mathematics and science.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Clarence H Platt is going to spend part of his birthday today between Mansfield and Gambier. The Platts are going to help Mrs Platt's son George Porterfield move his belongings back to Mansfield following his term at Kenyon college, Gambier. They expect to repeat the performance for Platt's daughter, Jean, from Ohio State some time this week. Platt, a native of Mansfield, has lived here all his life. His job is investigator for the Ohio Industrial commission and his hobby is the Mansfield Mastersingers of which he is the treasurer.

Why leave town to have your piles treated, when I have treated over a thousand cases right here at home, these past 15 years.
I am trained by post-graduate work and experience to make the proper diagnosis and give the indicated treatment. Many cases go about their regular duties without loss of time.

North Lake Dam, Maple Lake Ball Diamond Planned In '49

Construction of a new inlet dam at North Lake park and grading for a ball diamond at Maple Lake park appeared a reality for 1949 today after the City Parks commission announced that the projects are included in the budget for next year.

The projects, which will cost an estimated $5,500, were assigned the top priorities on the report of a committee of the City Park association. The committee is composed of two representatives from each of the six city park groups.

Other projects recommended for 1949, in the order of their priority, include installation of lights on No. 1 ball diamond at Prospect park, installation of lights with underground wiring throughout Liberty park, installation of storm windows at Johns park, blacktopping of tennis courts in all parks and construction of a swimming pool at John Todd park.

A request for the employment of an engineer to landscape and plan further developments in Maple Lake park was not assigned a priority.

Gordon L Watson, chairman of the commission, said projects scheduled for completion this summer include construction of baseball bleachers at Prospect park and black-topping of two tennis courts at Liberty park and two at Maple Lake park.

Paving of the parking area at North Lake park was completed last week, he said. The commission will meet again on July 2.

Year after year, the preference for Cadillac grows and grows. But the preference shown for the new models now appearing on the streets and highways is beyond all previous experience. It is definitely the greatest upsurge in popularity in Cadillac's history. This great swing to Cadillac is largely a tribute to the car's extraordinary beauty and originality—for relatively few have yet had a chance to test its wonderful performance. More perfectly than ever, the car's inner goodness is mirrored in its outward beauty—and people can actually see the measure of Cadillac leadership as the car sweeps past on the highway.

Night-Long Senior Class Party OK'd

Mansfield grown-ups generally approve of the all-night party held May 28 by members of the graduating class of Senior high school.

That's the reaction to this week's forum question, which was "Do you approve of the all-night party held by Mansfield seniors last Friday night?"

Of six persons asked, five replied in the affirmative. The sixth questioned the wisdom of all-night parties for 'teen-agers.

Mrs. G. W. Marshall, 152 South Foster street: "I think the idea's all right if the parties are with the parent's approval. Everybody seemed to have a swell time and it's loads of fun for the seniors. Of course, children must have their parents' approval and that's up to the individual parent.

Mrs. Marshall

★

C. V. Gannaway, 4 Summit Ct.: "I thought the party went off beautifully and it was well done and orderly. Under proper supervision I don't see any reason why seniors can't hold an all-night party. In other words, it's a good idea when the crowd sticks together and there's chaperons."

Gannaway

Mrs. Thomas L. Speck, 234 Rhein street: "It was a fine idea, I believe. I wish we had had all-night parties when we went to school. I think the children will have more faith in their parents if the grown-ups show faith in them by letting the kids go to such an affair."

Mrs. Speck

★

Virgil Shenberger, R. D. 1, Lucas: "Well, I guess the idea's OK if the children are properly supervised and in one group. I think my parents would have given me permission to go if there had been such all-night parties when I was in school. I don't see anything wrong with the idea."

Shenberger

Mrs. Arthur Brenneman, 172 Blymyer avenue: "Frankly, I don't believe I think too much of young people holding an all-night party. All kids are not alike, you know—some take care of themselves and others wouldn't act properly. Of course, things are different now than it used to be."

Mrs. Brenneman

★

Mrs. Gilbert Bistodeau, West Fourth street road: "All-night parties would be all right if there were plenty of chaperons. I have a little girl and I think I'd let her go when she grows up if she had nice friends and it was a nice crowd. It all depends on the type of people who go, I believe."

Mrs. Bistodeau

In addition, service awards were given to the following leaders: Joseph Pilot, Robert Denig, Howard Lewis and Martin Cook. M. S. Cook is cub master.

Happy Weeders Meet June 14

The Happy Weeders gardening club will hold its next meeting June 14 from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. Plans for the officers' picnic in Mansfield were discussed at a meeting June 3.

The Forest Hall 4-H club met recently at the home of Stanley Lomax to hear discussions of the 4-H camp program and the annual conference picnic and see demonstrations. Twelve members attended.

The next meeting will be at the home of John and Meredith Smith June 14.

Intoxicated Man Held In Burglary

A West Augustine man was held in the city jail yesterday on suspicion of rifling of the cash register of the Crystal restaurant, 91 East Fourth street.

The restaurant owner, Nick Proicou, called police at 5 a. m. to report that a man had broken into his cash register and that the man was still in the store.

The suspect could not appear in court this morning because he allegedly was under the influence of alcohol. He probably will be arraigned on Monday.

ONE KISS—$50

STOCKHOLM —(AP)— A young waitress at Karlskrona in southern Sweden was forcibly kissed an evening in spring. She sued the man, complaining that she had got bruises and a cold. The judge fined the man 75 crowns for disorderly conduct and he had to pay 100 crowns in damages. So the kiss cost him $50.

'Hand-Made' Homes Slash Housing Cost

By WEB M'KINLEY

YPSILANTI, Mich.—(AP) Dwight E. Hand, a gray-haired little man with the vigor of a buzz-saw, has a formula for chopping down the high cost of housing.

"Build your own," he advises.

To quell any doubts, Hand can take a skeptic on a tour of some 200 homes in this area that have been built by amateurs under his watchful eye.

"Anyone can do it," he says "Well—almost anyone."

"My theory is," he says, "that the average man can build 70 per cent of his own home. He doesn't have to be a carpenter or a bricklayer to do it, either. I've seen awkward clerks learn to build their own."

Hand has no particular name for his system of cutting housing costs. But most persons call it "The Co-Operative Home Building Project."

Essentially it's just a banding together of persons who need homes and can't pay high prices for them. They pool their muscles and their skills and after about eight months of work come up with brand new homes at savings of from $2,000 to $12,000 apiece.

SYSTEM IS SIMPLE

The "Hand system" is based mostly on two things: A person's bank account and his innate energy. The 38-year-old Hand himself a tireless worker, assumes the money will be small and the energy great.

Usually, a man who wants to build selects a plan furnished by Hand, who gets them by the simple process of clipping the Sunday building sections of newspapers.

After the plan is selected Hand arranges an FHA loan for the builder and prepares a detailed cost analysis. Then he figures mathematically how much of the labor the builder will have to do himself.

This may be as low as $1,500 worth or as high as $8,000. Much depends, of course, on the skill of the builder.

Hand introduces the builder to the others in the cooperative group, arranges an informal schedule when the others might help and keeps a close watch on progress.

Naturally, the average builder needs plenty of help. The other "owner-builders" pitch in whenever they can often working until midnight under lights.

Whenever a hurdle seems too high, Hand calls in professional help—which he employs by the hour. There is usually one full-time carpenter working on one of the houses. Sometimes masons or plumbers are called in.

HAND FURNISHES MATERIAL

Hand also furnishes all the materials for the "owner-built" homes buying in bulk direct from the factory or yard and storing them on his own property until they are used.

This spring 14 homes were being built by the "Hand-system" and 18 more were about to be started.

Most of the homes are taking eight months to build with the owners working on them from 20 to 40 hours a week. Wives, children in-laws and grandparents also pitch in.

Hand's prize builder is John Bevier, a factory foreman now building a four-bedroom ranch style home. With the house nearly completed, Bevier figures the cost at about $8,000, of which not one cent was spent for labor. Hand insists the house could sell for $22,000.

To do this Bevier has worked on his house several hours every day, and every spare moment on weekends.

Other builders, of course, often are unable to spend so much time on the homes. One broke his leg working on the project last December. While the man's leg was knitting, Hand put on his overalls and went to work.

Hand has been doing this sort of thing since 1929 when, as a salesman for prefabricated houses, he discovered that many men wanted to build their own. He was interrupted during the war, when he worked for the government, but resumed again last October.

He makes a profit on the transactions but Hand says "this is mostly missionary work for me. I make my money elsewhere." When he's not working on the project, Hand is a real estate broker.

His "missionary work" has won praise from the FHA. Harry Steffey, deputy FHA director for Michigan, said 'Hand is doing an unusually fine job in helping people get low-cost housing."

Hand is careful to explain, however, that his system can't work for everyone.

"It takes character to build your own home. Try it and see."

Rec Programs 'Tailor Made' For Each Community's Needs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)— It isn't often that a newswriter gets a chance to use the word "unique," which often is used loosely to mean "unusual" or "odd."

But Jefferson county, Kentucky, of which Louisville is the county-seat, has a playground system that really is unique.

The "Jefferson County plan," as it is beginning to be known nationally, is a program of organized recreation penetrating virtually every section of the suburban, small town and rural territory of the county outside of the city of Louisville itself. The portion of the county outside of Louisville has an area of 408 square miles and a population estimated at 80,000.

The county program is unique, on no less authority than that of the National Recreation association, because it is believed to be the only system in which county authorities, schools and the people of the various communities help to finance and run the show.

In most city or county playground systems a director plans a uniform program which is carried out exactly the same in every center. Leadership and materials are provided out of public funds.

Not so under the "Jefferson County plan." Charlie Vettiner county recreation director, explains it this way:

"Each playground is treated as an individual problem of supervision, due to the fact that needs vary with different communities. "This allows the men and women, serving in the various communities, to use their own initiative in building a broad program reflecting the personalities of the children and adults served."

Notice that word "adults." The "Jefferson County plan" isn't for boys and girls only. It takes in teen-agers, older young folk, and parents and grandparents, as well. That's another unusual feature.

ACTIVITY FOR ALL

There is some activity for youths and adults of every taste. Handicrafts of all sorts are taught—woodwork, clay modeling, metalcraft, crocheting, drawing, or weaving—there are 17 in all.

Then there are dramatics, dancing, bands, orchestras and choruses; camping, hiking and nature study; bridge, checkers and chess; folk games and party games; debating, archery, boxing the list is lengthy. The tastes and abilities of all find expression.

Another feature is low expense. School grounds and buildings, churches and community centers are used at night during the school year, all day in the summer. Thus there is no expense for buildings or grounds and, Vettiner says, "the taxpayers get twice as much for the money spent."

But it isn't the activities that make the "Jefferson County plan" outstanding. It is the fact that the communities actually finance and run their own programs. County government and county school funds are used, but these pay only the salaries of the leaders and half the cost of all permanent equipment.

In other words, the amount of equipment a center gets depends upon how interested its patrons are. Since the county matches funds raised by local citizens, the scope of each community's program is up to its own people.

Bookmobile To Be Shown

Richland county's new bookmobile will be on display in front of the Public library next Saturday. First showing of the new traveling library had been scheduled for yesterday.

Mrs. Lois Pennell, county librarian, said a reception for city, village, county, and school officials will be held at the library following showing of the new bookmobile.

The bookmobile, hauling from 1,500 to 2,000 volumes, will deliver books to a number of Richland county communities which have no libraries.

Harriman Gets Man-Sized Job

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Men on both sides here—whether Republican or Democratic—make pleased remarks about the country having a man as well prepared for his new job as W. Averell Harriman.

The size of the job was what had worried people.

Harriman is headed for Paris to run the European end of the Marshall plan. He must see that more than $5,000,000,000 a year are put to work where they can do the most good for the 270,000,000 people in western Europe.

His title is U. S. special representative in Europe for the Economic Cooperation Administration. He has the rank of ambassador.

Few Americans have run enterprises large enough to prepare them for such a job. Fewer still have had government service to boot.

Harriman has had both. Before he entered the government, back in the '30s, he had run the Union Pacific railroad; he had built up a shipping company; he had started a brokerage house which is still in business. For many years he has worked on high government policy, and through the war most of the top secrets flowed over his desk. As far as Harriman is concerned they're still top secrets.

APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY

For those reasons, and others, the Senate committee which approved his appointment to the Paris post indulged in little talk about it, and okeyed him unanimously.

He holds a niche in government today which appears unique. No one seems to remember any time when Harriman was under political attack from either political party or from any of their factions.

Most of his work in the government has been with European and Russian leaders. Much of it has been concerned with commerce and supplies.

In March, 1941, he flew to London to get the lend lease pipelines open. He said then that his job merely amounted to "recommendations." He added with a slow grin, "If I'm right I'll get little glory. But if I'm wrong, I'll be in the middle."

He shuttled back and forth to Moscow as the lend lease supplies began to move to the Muscovites. Those trips were often high hops over skies in which the enemies were fighting.

Each time Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin had a conference, Harriman was pulled out of his Moscow embassy to advise President Roosevelt. He attended all the big international conferences, and there came to know the attitudes of many of the men with whom he must now deal again.

Back in the dark days of 1941, when plenty of military experts thought the Russians would fold, leaving the Germans free to turn on the west, Harriman was among the first to say the Russians would fight on.

NAMED AMBASSADOR

He had taken several quick flights by that time to talk with the embattled Russians. He got along with them. So in October, 1943, he was appointed ambassador to Moscow.

He immediately made the American embassy hum. He decided to know as many of the Russian leaders as possible, and to know them well. He gave huge parties, and went to them. He asked for a long series of interviews with all the top men in the Russian capital. He has probably talked with Stalin more hours than any other man from the western world.

His hand work won him Russian admiration. When he was reassigned, in 1946, to the American embassy at London, Russian leaders publicly wished him well.

In his first years in Moscow he believed that a peace could be worked out between the Russian and American systems. He counseled patience. But even before the war ended he had doubts.

But he has not snapped all the way back to the extreme reaction of talking of war. He says rather, "The communists believe in the inevitability of armed conflict. I am convinced we can maintain the peace, provided we will now use our efforts to help free men maintain their freedom."

He has favored the Marshall plan from the start. He got together a large committee of leading American business men to figure out whether this country could afford to give such tremendous aid to other people.

For weeks they combed all sorts of figures: Our own production, Europe's needs, shipping space, costs, the vagaries of currencies, the ability of the Europeans to work.

Now, with all that special background on Europe's industries and trade, Harriman goes to Paris to watch exports and imports, government budgets, food production.

"He does everything intensely," says one man. "He tackles every government paper that comes over his desk as though the fate of the nation hung on that one paper. He even plays that way. He plays golf, badminton, croquet, as though it were his temporary profession."

CELEBRATION PLANNED

Farmers Receive High May Prices

Most Items Top National Average

(By Special Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Prices received by the Ohio farmer were generally above the national average for the month of May, the agriculture department says, with such crops as rye, barley, soybeans and some meat-on-the-hoof like veal, calves and sheep dropping a bit below the national index.

Up on the index were wheat, corn, oats, flaxseed, potatoes, butter, wholesale milk, hogs, beef cattle, chickens and turkeys.

Lambs, per hundredweight, were quoted at $23.40, equalling the national average. Eggs per dozen, priced at 41 cents, were one-half cent below the average price received in the country.

Ohio farmers were getting $2.28 for a bushel of wheat in May, six cents above the national average and equalling the average price received in the east north-central region, including Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Michigan topped Ohio three cents on a bushel.

Corn followed this general trend with the price quoted at $2.18. Michigan quoted the May price of corn per bushel at $2.22.

OATS TOP REGION

A bushel of oats gave an average return to Ohio farmers of $1.18 —above all the region—and five cents over that received by both Michigan and Indiana farmers.

Potatoes per bushel netted the Ohio farmer 30 cents above the national average, with the price quoted at $2.35. The average for the East North Central region was $1.89.

Holding its own, butter returned the Ohio farmer 13.1 cents per pound more than the national index, although .9 cents below the regional quotation. Butterfat slipped below the index 5.6 cents and 2.8 cents under the regional average.

Wholesale milk was quoted as $4.90 per hundred pounds, in comparison with April's return of $4.95 and over the national average 31 cents.

Hogs, per hundred pounds, returned $20.60 to the Ohio farmer, a dollar over the national index and 50 cents above the regional average. Beef, at $25 per hundred pounds, was $1.30 over the May index for the country and 20 cents above the regional level.

Chickens, per pound, were quoted in Ohio at 31 cents—two and a half over the national index and .4 of a cent below the regional level. However, Michigan farmers received two cents more on a pound.

Apples at $1.95 per bushel were four cents above the national level and 25 cents above the regional quotation.

Sharon Levy Vote Date Set

Electors living in the Sharon school district will be asked July 13 at a special election to approve an additional four-mill levy for current operating expenses of the district

The school board asks that the levy run for two years A four-mill levy would amount to 40 cents for each $100 of property valuation, including real and personal property and public utilities.

Since a special election will be held, a 60 per cent majority is required instead of the usual 50.

Walter White Says—

U. S. Victim of 'Jitters' Induced By Communism

Is Russia waging a war of nerves to induce or frighten the United States into a colossal armaments program which might bring on the economic collapse which the Soviet press has been predicting?

Russia made no secret of her belief that the United States would suffer a catastrophic economic collapse last year which would have made impossible aid to Europe of effective resistance to Communist capture of western Europe. The stock market decline of last fall was jubilantly hailed in Russia as the beginning of the end of the "decadent democracy" which had been predicted.

A swift silence descended on the Soviet press when the stock market recovered and the threat of a disaster as great as that of 1929 temporarily vanished. But the rising cost of living and the mounting spiral of inflation in the United States continue to be featured in Russian newspapers and broadcasts.

Now that it is evident that the American economic structure is still reasonably sound and unlikely to fall in ruins, is it not possible that the Politburo is concentrating on a war of nerves to frighten us into expenditure of countless billions in preparation for war so that the predicted collapse of capitalism may thereby be brought about? This possibility is one which needs to be considered not only by the Congress but by the American people.

We plan to spend fourteen billion dollars during the coming year, 22 billion or more a year from now, and no one knows how much more annually in the years thereafter for new weapons, exclusive of the cost of past wars. We are planning to draft two million or more young men, interrupting their education and eliminating them as productive members of society. Rich as is the United States, such an economic burden will tax to the utmost and materially weaken our economic structure.

WHITE

In the meantime, our department of defense gives little evidence of knowing just what kind of a defense we ought to have. With uncritical speed, the Congress has voted a 70-group air force in the face of evidence that an air screen, however dense, would be futile in stopping a radio-controlled projectile with an atomic warhead. We are spending vast sums already for planes which are obsolete even before they leave the assembly line. An example of this was to be seen in a little noticed item in the press recently of the abandonment of the B-36 super bomber after one hundred million dollars had been spent in building them because the flight range and speed of this plane have been found wanting.

As Senator Taft and others have pointed out, various branches of our national defense are so busy fighting each other for supremacy, there is little time left for intelligent and unselfish consideration of what weapons we need and how our defense should be planned.

Congress cannot, however, shift all the blame to the military. There has been so much jockeying for political position in the crucial election year of 1948 that little leadership of value has been provided by the congress. On the contrary, southern members of Congress, aided by some conservative Republicans, have fouled up the picture by means of the Russell-Maybank amendment to the selective service act which would write into our basic law negation of every principle of equality contained in the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

Any sane American who is justifiably concerned with subversive activities in the United States should realize that any proposal to write into our basic law racial separation and discrimination is as dangerous as any foreign propaganda. It is easily possible that this kind of divisive attempt may be even more disastrous to democracy.

Perhaps Russia's iron curtain is part of a successful war of nerves to prevent the rest of the world and in particular the United States from knowing how much or how little the USSR is developing in the way of offensive war weapons.

The mystery thereby created can force us into a wasteful armaments program which would cause the United States to destroy or so materially weaken its economy that Russia will be able to take over western Europe and the rest of the world without firing a single shot.

It is imperative that the United States stop being made the victim of jitters. Instead of militarizing the nation and bankrupting our economy, it is imperative that an intelligent, non-political program be drafted by experts to determine what kind of defense we need and how much of our national income and our human resources should be devoted to such defense and how much to building a sound economy.

Janell Leonard Wed To Robert A. Marth

MISS JANELL ELIZABETH LEONARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn B. Leonard, 111 Hedges street, and Robert A. Marth, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marth, 125 Distl avenue, were united in marriage Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First English Lutheran church.

The Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor, officiated for the double ring rite in the open church service. Organ music was provided by Mrs. Clayson Bell and Miss Beverly Wentz was the vocal soloist.

Palms and ferns banked the altar which was decorated with large baskets of white peonies and altar vases filled with white roses. The service was conducted by candlelight.

Mr. Leonard escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She was wearing a traditional white satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. The neckline was encircled with a floral design of steel cut beads. The satin headpiece was trimmed with matching beads and it held the fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Jack Leonard served as matron of honor for her sister-in-law. Bridesmaids were Miss Margie Leonard, the bride's cousin, and Miss Dwan Dune. They wore identical gowns of aqua taffeta with net yokes. Their full length gloves matched their gowns.

The flower girl was Miss Carol Davis, cousin of the bridegroom. She wore a white satin gown with a net veil falling from a tiara of orange blossoms.

The attendants carried front style bouquets of carnations tied with matching ribbons. Mrs. Leonard's flowers were light pink and the bridesmaids carried yellow carnations. Little Miss Davis carried a bouquet of pink carnations and yellow roses.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue street length dress and pink and white accessories. An aqua dress was worn by the bridegroom's mother who complemented it with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Jack F. Leonard, the bride's brother, was Mr. Marth's best man. John Bauer, Jay Williams, Bruno Mollica and Lewis Sazdanoff ushered the guests to their pews.

A reception for the couple was given in the basement of the church following the ceremony. Approximately 150 guests were served from the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and decorated with vases of pink and white roses and two baskets of white peonies.

The bride chose a light gray suit with green accessories for her traveling costume. It was completed with a white orchid corsage. The couple left immediately for a trip through Michigan and Canada. They will reside at the Hedges street address after June 20.

Both young people were graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the bride has been employed by the Mansfield Telephone company. Mr. Marth is an employe of the Page Dairy company.

Out-of-town guests were from Ashland, Galion, Toledo, Wooster, Willard, Cleveland, Akron, St. Louis and Detroit.

In the Pictures

IN A HAPPY WHIRL of parties, plans and preparations, the June brides are getting ready to take over the month's social picture.

Like every city in the land, Mansfield has its contingent of young girls who choose to make their marriage vows in the month of roses. Some will be wed in a garden, or the living room of a home. Others will seek out the office of a justice. But the majority will select as the perfect setting, a chapel or a church.

Typical of those in the latter group are three brides-elect shown on this page. Upper left shows Miss Jean Herrick looking over her trouseau. Miss Herrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Herrick, 218 West Fifth street, has named June 26 as the date for her marriage to Robert Dagarin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Dagarin, East Palestine. The double ring service will be solemnized at 10:30 a. m. in St. Peter's Catholic church. Open church will be observed.

A job dear to the heart of any bride-elect is that of looking over her shower gifts. Shown upper right is Miss Katherine Berges, daughter of Mrs Theresa Berges, 376 Wayne street, who will become the bride of Donald Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Butler. The wedding is to take place June 19 at the First English Lutheran church with a formal open ceremony. Many parties have been given for Miss Berges who is shown writing "thank you" notes.

Miss Joan Scott, who will become the bride of William Erdenberger, on June 20, is shown above as she shops for wedding trousseau. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Scott, 464 Sloane avenue, and Mr. Erdenberger's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Erdenberger, Stewart road. The double ring ceremony will be used and open church observed at the Evangelical United Brethren church at 4 p. m.

The wedding story of Miss Mary Alice Hamilton, 125 Washington avenue, and Benjamin Louis Rath, Lexington, can be found on page 18 of this section.

Miss Janell Leonard, who was wed Friday evening at the First English Lutheran church, to Robert A. Marth is shown center above.

At the left is Miss Jean Wentz, whose engagement is announced today by her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Wentz, 478 West Fourth street. Miss Wentz will become the bride of James Edward Kerman, son of Mrs. W. H. Kerman of Dayton. Miss Wentz will graduate today from Ohio university. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Mr. Kerman, who is a student at Ohio university, is affiliated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He served three years in the Army Air Corps.

Peonies Are Easiest to Grow Says This Week's Gardener

By DOROTHY MONROE

AT THIS time of the year the peonies are stealing the garden show.

Mrs. Wilmer L. Gross, vice president of the Royal Regal Garden club, has some tips for gardeners who would boast lovely peony borders or plots.

"Starting and maintaining a first class peony garden is simplicity itself if a few fundamental rules are learned and followed," she tells us.

The basis of all gardening is soil and the second essential is good drainage. she explained this week. Peonies require a rich loam soil The first step is to dig a big hole and cover the bottom with cinders for drainage. Fill this with good soil and plant the bulbs three feet apart for a garden plot—two feet apart for a hedge.

The topmost eye of the bulb should be no deeper than one and one-half inches below the surface of the soil. If planted too far down in the ground peonies will not bloom. It is a mistake to plant a large clump of these bulbs for very often they do not retain their vigor. In the late fall a handfull of wood ashes or bone meal sprinkled over the ground is beneficial, Mrs. Gross added.

Any part of a peony bulb will grow and make a good plant if there are at least three eyes on the division. Mrs. Gross explained that when dividing, you should life the entire root system out of the ground, wash away the soil with the hose, leaving the new growth visible and cut the crown in pieces with a sharp knife. Carry from three to five eyes with each division and take great care not to remove the hair-like feeding roots.

A special suggestion from Mrs. Gross is that the dividing process be carried out in August and September. The feeding roots will have had time to become established in the soil before freezing weather sets in. Besides, even after the blooms are gone, the bushs stay green and attractive through the summer and form nice foliage for your garden or border.

Frequent division of peony bulbs is not necessary. They usually are planted for a lifetime so Mrs. Gross warns the gardener to be governed accordingly in planning the location of the clumps.

"Peonies are very hardy and generally disease resistant," Mrs. Gross assured us. "Botrytis is the most common disease but it can be controlled by bordeaux mixture.

"Some people are upset by the ants that often are found on peonies," noted Mrs. Gross. "They do no harm at all, however, except to spread Botrytis if it is already present. The insects are attracted by the sweet sap that comes from the buds. All you need to do in order to rid the plants of ants is to wash the sweet sap from the buds with a fine spray from the garden hose."

Mrs. Gross is convinced that there is no flower more showy than the peony, especially for edging a drive or walk, but their decorative value cannot be fully appreciated unless they are arranged in good taste—separating the pinks and reds by introducing white between. Larger, more beautiful blossoms will result if you remove all the buds except the main one on each stem. The more you dis-bud, the larger the blooms.

"Peony culture is gratifyingly simple," she concluded, "the only requisites being rich, deep soil—and neglect."

The Royal Regal Garden club was organized in 1940 with 10 charter members and Mrs. Dane Valentine as president. The group chose the Regal lily as the club flower and selected the name Royal Regal to correspond with the flower.

In 1941 the club joined the Garden Center and in 1942 became affiliated with the Garden Club of Ohio.

There are now 24 active members of the club and Mrs. E. A. Graham is president. The other officers are Mrs. Claude Phipps, secretary; Mrs. Sam Craig, assistant secretary, and Mrs. W. H. Summers, treasurer.

The club motto is "It's never too late to be what you might have been." The cardinal is the club bird. The purpose is "to bring its members into closer relationship with each other by association, and to encourage the cultivation of beauty in our gardens and to promote interests in civic beautifying."

The pending project this year is to assist in the equipping of John Todd park by installing a fireplace and picnic tables.

In their own gardens the members are aspiring to maintain "continued bloom" through the season. Mrs. Gross has her garden arranged with bulbs such as narcissus, daffodils, and tulips which have been succeeded by iris and peonies. Roses will follow these.

Annual seeds must have been sown by now in order to assure the continual bloom. Mrs. Gross has braided the foliage of her daffodils and tied them down with twist-ems to let air and sunshine in where the sweet alyssum has been sown. Thus the daffodil foilage will die down naturally.

Behind the sweet alyssum in the Gross garden are ageratum plants and pink geraniums which will provide a border of white, blue and pink all summer. Other perrenials such as delphinium, phlox and lillies will follow in their blooming order.

Fight Looms For Market Of Watches

Swiss, American Competition Nears

NEW YORK — (AP) — Foreign competition may make its first post-war appearance in a battle between Swiss and American clock manufacturers, a survey has indicated.

At present, watch and clock manufacturers are enjoying a pent-up demand for their products, but some spokesmen in the American industry say a real threat will come when the sellers' market ends.

Before the war, when foreign competition was the basis of many a lusty argument, the German chemical and dye trust and the Japanese textile manufacturers had American industrialists biting their fingernails.

In the post-war years it appears that the battle lines are being drawn in the watch and clock making industries.

There is no general agreement among Americans concerning the importance of Swiss imports in the life of this country's watchmakers.

Sentiment ranges from those who feel that imports are draining the lifeblood from the American industry to those who contend as firmly that there is room for both.

'E' AWARDS GIVEN

Representatives of Swiss firms with American assembly plants point proudly to the Army-Navy "E" awards earned by many of their factories in this country.

As far as the American watch and clock maker was concerned civilian production was out and the imports from Switzerland rose to new highs.

The pent-up demand was tremendous at the war's end. The same people who couldn't replace their automobile or their washing machine, couldn't get a new wrist watch or alarm clock.

The leading American manufacturers found they were producing more watches and clocks than before the war to keep up with the demand. The household that had a clock in the kitchen and an alarm clock in the bedroom, added a timepiece to the kitchen stove.

Post-war designs were more attractive and one manufacturer commented that folks used to buy clocks to tell time—now they're buying them for their ornamental value.

Increased prices represent increased costs of labor and materials. One manufacturer said. The dollar watch and the 79 cent alarm clock, he commented, just went the way of the 35-cent haircut.

Spokesmen for the American industry say they can't compete with Swiss wages. They say the wages of Swiss watch workers are from one-quarter to one-third that of American watch workers.

PRICES ARE SAME

And, they add, the American consumer in purchasing a Swiss watch pays as much at retail as he does for one manufactured in the United States

The difference in the cost of production, a spokesman for the American industry said, is the gain of the importer not the consumer.

Most sources agree that whether the movement (the actual works of the watch) is imported or made here, the casings, straps bracelets and boxes are produced in the United States and the assemblers of the component parts are American workers.

A spokesman for the American Watch Assemblers' association explained that of the retail price of all so-called Swiss watches sold in this country, 88 per cent of the dollar remains here and 12 per cent goes abroad.

A clock manufacturer came as near as anyone to a middle-of-the-road viewpoint. He said that at present the situation is not "too bad"—the tariff on clock imports is adequate for now.

One of the clock maker's chief troubles, he said, is a federal excise tax of as high as 10 per cent on a clock retailing for less than $5 and as much as 20 per cent on one costing more than that.

Repairs On Ohio Capitol

Statehouse Termed Architectural Gem

By DWIGHT PITKIN

COLUMBUS -- (AP) -- Ohio's capitol, sometimes termed one of the purest examples of Greek doric in the United States, is being spruced up. The state plans spending more than $80,000 putting it in good shape.

Workmen put a new asphalt covering over the statehouse terrace last week. The state emergency board has set aside funds to repair the roof of the statehouse annex.

Public Works Director George B. Sowers also has asked the board for funds to repair the roof of the statehouse proper. The old roof, he said, has gone 32 years without major repairs and has begun to leak.

Sowers also has made some minor improvements in the landscaping at the capitol. Evergreen vines have been planted by the wall of the front terrace

The public works director, however, is against tampering with the traditional picture of the capitol. He wants to leave it as it is.

"Somebody has suggested," he said, "that the old iron fence around the capitol grounds should come down. But it's part of the capitol. I believe we should keep it as a picture of the past."

CAPITOL CALLED CLASSIC

A former colonel in the Army engineers, Sowers has studied the world's best architecture in Italy and other countries. He considers the statehouse a thing of beauty and a joy to the heart of an architect who is an artist

The public works director has no patience with people who sneeringly compare the cupola on the top of the massive limestone structure to a cheesebox or sawed-off silo.

"Maybe it does look a little unfinished," he said. "But I admire the building the way it is for its simplicity. The lines are wonderful. An architect who is an artist says leave it alone."

The original plans for the statehouse were said to have called for a dome surrounded by a colonnade harmonizing with the general architecture. The plans never were carried out because of bickering among the legislators over the cost and construction

The statehouse was completed in 1861 at a cost of about $1,650,000. It was 22 years in building with five architects serving during the administrations of 12 governors.

$25,000,000 VALUATION

Sowers estimated it would cost around $25,000,000 at the present time to duplicate the structure. The foundation walls are 12 to 15 feet thick. A special railroad had to be built to haul huge sections of limestone from quarries northwest of Columbus for the building. Both convict and private labor worked on it.

The Ohio Guide, a book compiled by workers of the writers program of the WPA in Ohio, also has a good word to say about the doric—style—oldest and simplest of the Greek building styles

Sowers said someone had suggested that the statehouse be used as a shrine and a brand new capitol be erected on the other side of the Scioto river

"That seems to me illogical," he remarked. "It would be unwise to move the capitol out of the center of Columbus. It would take too much money."

The public works director said offices within the building could be modernized to make it useful for many years as the headquarters of the governor and other elected state officials.

It's An Ideal Picnic Spot

Mohican Forest Draws Tourists

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Sunday News-Journal presents the first of a series of features on tours for Mansfield area motorists. The tours are designed to give motorists pleasant driving and scenery within a short driving range. A similar feature will be published later this month.)

By NORMAN DRESSER, N-J Sunday Editor

One of the most scenic tours in the Mansfield area is a drive to the beautiful Mohican State forest near Loudonville.

The round-trip mileage is a shade over 45 miles, but it's a flexible tour. You can spend a pleasant afternoon in your car, driving directly to and through the park, and returning to your home in time for a round of golf before dark. Or you can leave in the morning, fully equipped for a day's outing, eat a picnic lunch in one of the many picnic spots in the forest, and return in the late afternoon.

If you enjoy pleasant and relaxing scenery, you'll want to make the tour an all-day outing. It's a scenic drive of 21 miles to Loudonville over Route 39. At Loudonville, Route 3 leads directly to the forest—a distance of only a few miles.

Within the forest you'll find a multitude of attractions for both motorist and walker. For the picnicker, there are scores of ideal roadside stands and eating lodges, many equipped with pure, sparkling well water.

The winding roads within the park range from high ridge highways to byways deep in the valleys. The roads are constructed for scenic driving and speeds of more than 20 to 30 miles an hour are dangerous. In many sections of the forest, especially on steep downgrades and hairpin curves, second or low gear is advisable.

VARIED SCENERY

You have a choice of varied scenery within the forest. High on the ridges, spectacular views of deep, densely-wooded valleys can be seen. On quiet days, wide-winged chicken hawks bank high above the valley's floor, yet on the ridges the birds are beneath one.

Down in the Mohican river gorge near the main bridge crossing the stream is a lovely picnic area extending several miles downstream from the bridge.

The state has constructed a large parking area near the bridge and there are several lodges and a number of fireplaces for picnickers. The path follows the left bank of the river through a deep forest which extends to the stream's edge.

For the hiker, there are a number of paths laid out through the forest. In many spots the view is reminiscent of the Smoky mountains, with deep valleys extending for miles.

A spectacular view of the forest can be obtained from the observation tower on the west edge of the forest. The tower, more than 150 feet high, gives the visitor an overall panorama of the forest.

WAR MEMORIAL

On the south edge of the forest is the state memorial to World War II dead. The memorial, which includes a small, graceful stone chapel which eventually will contain the names of all of Ohio's war dead, is sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs. It was dedicated last year in a ceremony attended by Gov. Thomas J Herbert, Adm. Ernest J. King and other dignitaries.

The return trip to Mansfield is via Route 97 through Butler to Bellville, then directly north on Route 13 to Mansfield. The total distance from the forest to Mansfield is 26 miles.

The road to Bellville is not a major highway but is a pleasant, scenic drive through rolling countryside and rich farmland. Just off Route 97 midway between Butler and Bellville is Gatton's Rocks, where the swiftly-moving Clear Fork cuts deeply into a hillside, exposing huge ledges of rock formations.

At one time, many years ago, Gatton's Rocks were a popular picnic grounds and a Scout camp was maintained on the site. A swinging bridge crosses the stream near the rocks.

Passing through Bellville, the motorist takes the paved Route 13 into Mansfield, 10 miles' distance.

Vandalism Brings City Warning

Plagued by youthful vandals who have been filling manholes at the south end of Vennum avenue with large stones and planks, Service Safety Director Earl T. Garrison yesterday asked parents to warn their children against such acts which disrupt the sanitary sewer system.

The youths have removed and hidden the manhole covers and filled the manholes with large stones that have blocked the interceptor lines, Garrison said.

Workmen replaced the covers and cemented them in place, but with the aid of hammers and stones the youths succeeded in prying them loose and throwing stones down the manholes.

Polk Villagers Change Clocks to Fast Time

ASHLAND — Polk village in northern Ashland county has adopted daylight savings time for the summer by approval of the village council.

Clocks will be changed to fast time tonight to bring the village in line with the fast time in Ashland and other nearby towns in the area.

Analysis Pays Off

Industries Fight Inflation

CHICAGO—(AP)—As costs chew ever bigger holes in the sales dollar, business is finding but two alternatives to maintain profits. The sales dollar can continue to balloon, and eventually price the product out of the market, or costs must come down.

More companies than ever are turning to the latter course, marketing analysts say.

In a new brochure issued by one firm on the subject of cost reduction, there is cited a company manufacturing diversified metal products costing $18,000,000 a year to produce.

Savings made the first year of cost studies sliced an estimated minimum of $1,725,000 from that outlay. Blueprints for the future contain additional long-term savings amounting to approximately $1,950,000 a year.

These results were accomplished at a cost to the client of less than three per cent of the first year's immediate savings, said a spokesman for Booz, Allen and Hamilton, marketing analysts.

During the war the metal products company had expanded to about four times its former size. Though it operated under a standard cost system and had daily reports on performance against standards and budget, its programs of organization, personnel, and control had been lost sight of in the rapid growth, the cost engineers found.

The plant saw a steadily rising break-even point and a danger of outpricing its products.

Key to the cost study is the control report, which compares actual performance with normal standards in terms of units and shows where correction is needed.

The control report contrasts with the typical cost accounting statement. The latter is stated in dollars and is made after the operation has taken place, with little opportunity of tracing back to any weaknesses.

In the case cited two types of cost reduction projects were set up: Those quickly attainable—within three months or less—and long-term changes. The former type of cost savings would be made by simple changes in procedure, method, or control with little or no capital or other expenditures.

Quickly made savings included these:

Workable ratios between direct and indirect labor in productive departments and a system of checks against each work shift increased production 42 per cent in the face of a shortage of labor. Savings were estimated, the guard force was reorganized, timekeeping was streamlined, and the procedure of feeding material to the assembly line was radically modified. In addition wartime expediters and labor recruiters received new assignments.

Use of old and new equipment simultaneously rather than waiting for the installation of new machinery resulted in $25,000 saved each month.

Grays' Lineup Gets 'New Look' for Black Sox

Cleveland Increases American Loop Lead

Miller, Hahn to Perform

The promised overhauling of the Mansfield Grays' lineup came sooner than expected as two familiar players, both carrying mighty big bats, join the team today.

Signed yesterday by Manager Lefty Deeds were Dean Hahn, Grays' manager last year, and Joe Miller, prize backstop from Senior high school. Miller led the Tyger hitters two straight years, batting well over .400.

Both will be in the lineup this afternoon when the Grays entertain the Cleveland Black Sox at 2:30 p. m. in Blue Goose park.

Joe Miller

Hahn, a left-handed first baseman, arrived in Mansfield this week after going on the voluntary retired list of the Cambridge team of the Eastern Shore league.

Regarded as one of the best products to come off the local sandlots in some time, Hahn said that he was still the property of the Brooklyn organization and had been asked to report to the Vero Beach training camp next spring.

"I just got off to a bad start," Hahn reported. "Most of the other fellows had been at Vero Beach and were way ahead of me in condition."

The husky first-sacker will put an entirely new complexion in the Grays' batting order when he takes his place in the clean-up spot.

SWANK LEADS OFF

Deeds listed Shelly Swank as the leadoff man in his revised batting order. Shortstop Kenny Funk and Third Baseman Red Hamman will precede Hahn while Outfielders Bob Bogantz, Russ Leedy and Dubby Lockhart will swing in the five, six and seven spots. Joe Miller, swinging a powerful club for a catcher, will bat eighth.

Either Jack Hammett, Ohio State pitcher, or the veteran Merle Leedy will be on the mound for the Grays this afternoon's contest.

Ohio Sport Center will meet Tappan Stove in a softball preliminary to the Grays' game today. The opener will begin at 1:15 p. m.

Something About Junior Baseball Deal: Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

AFTER SEVERAL months of planning, the city's newest athletic venture really gets underway this week. . . . Of course, it's the Hot Stove league's long-awaited junior baseball program. . . . Not that the teams will play league ball right away. . . . That phase will not begin until June 21. . . . But the teams will be seeing a baseball diamond for the first time. . . . So another chapter in the Mansfield athletic log will be opened. . . . It's not the first time that our city has had a junior baseball setup. . . . But it is the first time that so many youngsters will have the opportunity to participate in the national pastime. . . . The league schedules plus the morning baseball schools will give the 'kids' a chance to learn much of the inner workings of baseball—one of the tougher sports to master. . . . They will also get a chance to see the Cleveland Indians in action. . . . The junior ball program will accomplish many things in addition to providing wholesome summertime recreation. . . . It will develop players so that the softball and baseball rosters of Mansfield may increase far beyond their present inadequate numbers. . . . It will give some lads a better background to try for pro ball. . . . It will keep the school athletes in condition during the summer months. . . . In other words, the program will be a plenty good thing.

★ ★ ★

FROM THE MAIL BAG:

Dear Sir:

In regards to the Cleveland Indians. At the beginning of the season, they won six consecutive games. Then they lost a total of four.

Have they ever been below second in the league standing? If so, what was their lowest standing and on what date did it occur.

Respectfully yours,
C. Edward Newton

★

Mr. Newton poses an interesting question so we went back through some 50 issues of the News-Journal to find what was what with the Indians from up Cleveland way. Of course, they won six straight to set the loop on fire at the outset. Just as quickly they went down to four defeats.

Here's the tabulation starting with that fourth loss:

May 6—Lose to Philadelphia for third straight time, 8 to 5. Drop to third behind A's and Yankees.

May 7—Bob Lemon blanks Washington, 8 to 0. Climb to second place.

May 9—Beat Boston twice. Go into first place.

May 11—Lose to Yankees, 4 to 1. Drop to second.

May 18—Best Philadelphia, 6 to 1. Take first.

May 27—Indians idle. Philadelphia wins to go into lead.

June 1—Indians idle. Go into first as Philadelphia loses.

Junior Baseball Sessions Open In Mansfield Monday

Mansfield's first complete junior baseball program will take definite shape this week with seven organization meetings scheduled starting tomorrow.

Although a goodly number of teams have already been formed, the meetings will serve to set up teams and select managers for all other squads. Practice schedules will also be made up.

Short practices are scheduled at each of the sessions.

Ed Chatlain, newly appointed baseball supervisor, and Stan Kamen, city recreation director, will be in charge of the meetings. The junior ball program is under the joint sponsorship of the Mansfield Hot Stove league and the recreation department.

600 SIGN UP

Nearly 600 youngsters have signed for play this summer and Chatlain will organize sufficient teams to take care of all Mansfield 'kids' wanting to play baseball. Four teams are set in the 16-17-18 year Major league and eight in the 13-14-15 Junior circuit. Two more older teams are in the process of formation.

Harry Mehock, physical education director of Mansfield public schools, has lined up 400 youngsters to participate in the Elementary loop. Three sponsors are set for the 'kid' teams. They are: Sons of Herman, City News and Army recruiting service.

Sponsor list for the two older leagues follow: Major league, Ward 1—Zitzer's, Ward 2—Yuncker Sports; Ward 3—Ohio Sport Center, and Ward 5—Sons of Herman Colts. Junior league, Ward 1—Carpenter Buses; Ward 2—Elks club; Ward 3—Marine Corps league; Ward 4—Exchange club; Ward 5—Police; Ward 6—Odd Fellows; Roseland—Sport Center; Madison—Mitsch's Corner Store.

★

Games will be played on the Blue Goose, Liberty park, John Todd park, Tappan Stove and Farm Tools diamonds. All the park diamonds will be used by the elementary teams.

Starting time for the seven-inning games will be Major, 6 p. m.; Junior, 3:30 p. m. and Elementary, 10 a. m. League play will begin June 21.

★

The six-team county baseball league will also begin in two weeks. The Madison entrant in the circuit will be backed by the Mansfield Grays with the Hot Stovers furnishing balls and bats.

Gustine Homers To Give Pirates Win Over Braves

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (AP) — Frankie Gustine's home run with Johnny Hopp on base in the last of the ninth gave the Pirates an 8-7 victory over the Boston Braves yesterday.

Rookie Relief Pitcher Vernon Bickford yielded the winning blow.

It was a see-saw battle all the way with the Pirates taking an early lead on Wally Westlake's three-run homer in the first. After the Braves had taken a 5-3 lead, Westlake hit another home run in the third with a man on to knot the count.

Boston moved out front in the sixth when they scored two unearned runs off Ernie Bonham. The Bucs picked up a run in the seventh.

Two were out in the ninth when Hopp singled and Gustine parked one into the Bucco bullpen for the victory.

7 Marks Busted In Ohio Meet

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

DELAWARE—In the biggest record-breaking spree the event has ever witnessed, Baldwin Wallace won the Ohio college track and field championship yesterday for the fourth straight time, nosing out Miami's threatening Redskins, 62 1/5 to 58 3/10.

In the 15 events, seven records were broken and one tied.

Harrison Dillard, dash-hurdle star of the Baldwin Wallace squad, ran his consecutive victory string to 76 as he won the century dash and the trips over the high and low barriers. He also anchored the winning 880-yard relay team.

Dillard's team mate, Gunther Katzmar, also put on quite a show as he piled up 18 points with victories in the 220 and 440-yard dashes, and second places in the low hurdles and broad jump.

TWO MAKE DIFFERENCE

Dillard and Katzmar were the difference as Baldwin Wallace failed to score in five of the 15 events. Miami missed in only the 220 and 440-yard dashes, while Bowling Green's surprising Falcons scored in everything except the two-mile run to wind up third with 48 4/5 points.

Other point totals were Ohio Wesleyan 25 4/5, Western Reserve 15, Kent State 3½, Oberlin 2 3/5, Case Tech 2 1/5, Cincinnati 2, Toledo 2, Ohio university 1, and Akron 1/5.

The guy who stole the show, however, was 30-year-old Jim Whittaker of Bowling Green, who soared to a new pole vault record of 13 feet. A victim of recurrent malaria contracted while an army sergeant in the Pacific, Whittaker romped off with the event in easy style and then stood by while his three-year-old daughter accepted the victory trophy.

Baldwin Wallace accounted for three of the new records, Katzmar running the quarter mile in 48.6 seconds, the half-mile relay quartet zooming in with a 1:28 mark, and the mile relay team going the route in 3:21.6.

DOUBLE WINNER

Bruce Thompson of Miami set a 1:56.7 mark for the half mile and then upset Ohio Wesleyan's Quentin Brelsford easily in the mile to become a double winner. Brelsford came back to win the two-mile in a record-breaking 9:39.3.

The other new mark was a 23-foot 11-inch effort in the broad jump by Bowling Green's Harold Robinson, while Bill Bachman of Miami high jumped six feet three inches to tie the old standard.

Coach Eddie Finnegan's Baldwin Wallace crew, in winning for the fourth time in five starts, almost duplicated last year's performance, as did Bowling Green. Last year B-W scored 65½ points to 62 1/5 this year. Miami had 58 a year ago, and upped it to 58 3/10 this time. Bowling Green, third a year ago with 24½, missed doubling that total by only a fifth of a point.

At the end, Finnegan said:

"We were lucky to win this one. Everyone performed as we though he would except Bill Wade in the 100-yard dash. We figured Bill for fifth and one point, but he came in second for four points, forcing Miami's two boys back to fourth and fifth. That was the difference."

Legion Junior Nine Entertains Galion; Ace Pitcher Hurt Throwing Football

Manager Dewey Durant of the American Legion Post 16 Juniors baseball team was all set today to send his charges after their second victory of the season but was more concerned over the injury of his most experienced hurler.

Durant reported that Lou Gregorio, brilliant little pitcher who fashioned two consecutive no-hit games during the high school season, is suffering from a "dead" arm. Gregorio, who is also a member of the Senior high grid squad, reportedly injured the arm several days ago tossing a football.

Just how serious the injury is or when Gregorio will be able to pitch again, Durant did not know.

Meanwhile, Dutch Bader, a Madison high student, will be on the mound for the Legion when they take the field against the Galion Legion team at 2:30 p. m. today at Liberty park.

Bader is also an experienced man in the low-hit department having hurled a no-hit game in the Legion league last year and a one-hitter against Wadsworth in the district tournament.

NO LEAGUE PLAY

The local team will not participate in any league this year but will play in a double-elimination tournament the latter part of this month to decide which of five teams hereabouts will go to the district tournament.

Plans for the area tournament were revealed yesterday by Durant. A double-header will be played at Liberty park on June 26 with Mansfield meeting Crestline and Shelby opposing Galion.

The next day the teams will move to Galion and from then on to Crestline, Galion and Loudonville until the winner is decided.

Lineup for today's games will be: Gene Riblett, cf; Charles Marchant, rf; Buck McKeever, 1b; Sparkie Watts, ss; Mike Gruber, 3b; Ken McCally, c; Joe Distl, 2b; and Jack Dosh, lf.

Among the reserves are Infielder Tom Tucker, Outfielders Cy Elsass and Ed Chelski, and Catcher-outfielder Bob Hartnett.

Darby and Chuck Yarman are slated to umpire today's game.

The Legion defeated Sandusky, 17-6, on June 22, in their only game of the season.

Embree Hurls Yanks to Win Over Brownies

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Yankees moved to within two and a half games of the second place Philadelphia Athletics yesterday by defeating the St. Louis Browns 7-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Red Embree.

Embree, hurling his third complete game and his fourth victory of the season, had a shutout for eight innings. In the ninth, however, a walk and singles by Les Moss and Pinch Hitter Joe Schultz gave the Browns their only run. It was St. Louis' fourth straight defeat.

Bobby Brown, Tommy Henrich and Yogi Berra were the leading Yankee hit producers. Each batted in two runs. Brown and Johnson got three hits apiece.

Cliff Fannin, who shut out the Cleveland Indians in his last effort, was smacked for seven hits in six innings and was charged with the loss.

Blonde's Winner Of 2,600-Mile Airplane Race

MIAMI, Fla. —(AP)— Blonde Frances Nolde of Reading, Pa. yesterday was declared winner of the 2,600-mile transcontinental air race from Palm Springs, Calif., to Miami. The race preceded the all-woman air show which opened here yesterday.

After a pilots' powwow and hints that some of the contestants remained on the ground until a favorable tail wind came along, Mrs. Nolde, a pilot of seven years, was adjudged the winner in an elapsed flying time of 17 hours, 10 minutes. She received $500 first money.

Dorothy Krovoza of Stockton, Calif., was second in 17 hours, 16 minutes and received $450 prize money.

Main event of the opening day was the 65-horsepower closed course handicap race in which Mrs. Helen McBride of Apopka, Fla., came in first, but she was ruled out on the judges' contention that she cut a pylon.

Mrs. McBride, so tiny she sits atop six cushions so she can see while flying, vigorously denied cutting a pylon.

Young Hurler Wins Fourth For Redlegs

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Weathering a two-run uprising in the ninth inning, 21-year-old Herman Wehmeier registered his fourth straight victory yesterday pitching the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-3 edge over the New York Giants before a crowd of 14,581.

The victory enabled the Reds to gain a split in their four-game series with the Giants and moved them past the Brooklyn Dodgers into sixth place. The Giants' league lead was cut to one-half game over St. Louis.

Wehmeier gave up five hits, but four were for extra bases. Billy Rigney gave the Giants a short-lived 1-0 lead with a home run in the third inning. Whitey Lockman stroked his eighth round tripper to lead off the ninth.

Lefty Thornton Lee, who began pitching Major league ball when Wehmeier was one year old, was the loser. An error by Rigney opened the door for a four-run Red uprising in the third and finished Lee. Frankie Baumholtz' single and Claude Corbitt's double highlighted the big inning.

Longshot Wins

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — Longshot Flying Rythm flew up on the outside from far behind and upset 12 rival three-year-old fillies to win the $25,000 Hollywood Oaks at Hollywood park yesterday.

Indians Easily Rap A's

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) Cleveland's Indians untangled the snarl in the American league standings yesterday by bombarding Joe Coleman and the Philadelphia Athletics for a 7-3 victory.

A paid crowd of 10,563, augmented by the numerous ladies' day customers, saw the Indians move a half game ahead of the A's and increase their percentage margin over the Athletics.

FIRST DEFEAT

The Tribe, which waited until the 15th inning to explode five runs against Washington Friday night, tagged Coleman with his first defeat after six straight victories and went right to work with a three-run first inning.

Four singles and a walk gave rookie Gene Bearden a working lead and the freshman sensation set down the Athletics without a hit for five and one-third innings. Meanwhile, the Indians shelled Coleman from the mound with a four-run uprising in the fifth.

The big blow in the fifth inning was an inside-the-park home run cannonaded off the right field light tower by Outfielder Hank Edwards. Eddie Robinson and Lou Boudreau each hit safely three times while Edwards connected twice.

LOSES HIS STUFF

Bearden, who was wild throughout, lost his stuff completely in the seventh inning and needed help from Eddie Klieman. The A's had the bases loaded, two out when Klieman faced Hank Majeski, but he got the A's third baseman on a line drive out and checked the Mackmen from then on.

Rookie Outfielder Don White was the only member of the Athletics to do any hitting. Joe Gordon made two hit-robbing plays on him and then White connected for a triple and a single in his last two times up.

Al Hager Joins Country's Best In Assault on National Open Title

By CHARLEY STINE

What could possibly be the beginning of a sparkling professional career began last night for Al Hager, one of Mansfield's best young golfers.

Hager left municipal airport at 7:10 last night, bound for Los Angeles and a berth in the National Open. Hager was to arrive in California this morning in time to practice for three days before the tournament on the Riviera Country club course.

Thursday he will tee off alongside Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret, Bobby Locke and all the great names of golf. He will be gunning among 171 others for the title last year won by Lew Worsham.

Hager, of course, will be competing as an amateur, and although the over-all title is open to him, he could gain considerable glory by placing high in the amateur division now dominated by Toledo's Frank Stranahan.

Hager's sudden rise to prominence in the golfing world began last Tuesday when he fired a 76-80—156 in the Cleveland qualifier to place among the alternates for the Open. Little was thought of the feat—at the time and few people expected Hager to get the call.

Friday night, however, he received word that he was eligible to play because other qualifiers had dropped out and a little less than 24 hours later, the 24-year old former caddy was bound for the coast.

Hager, is a two time winner of the Richland tournament, having copped the cup in 1941 and 1946. He first attracted attention when he won the Westbrook caddy title three years in succession, 1939, '40 and '41. He set the unofficial club record in 1941 with a score of 34-29—63, nine strokes under par.

After becoming a full-fledged member of the course he cracked the official record and set up a new one, 34-31—65.

Among his other accomplishments are two district individual championships while in high school, and an undefeated record last year in the News-Journal A league. He held a 36 average for the complete season.

Hager will tee off at 12:27 Thursday and 8:57 a. m. Friday. He is paired with Henry Castillo, Abbeville, La. and Frank Toronto, Sacremento, Cal. Castillo is a pro.
